This Is What People Are Talking About

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT...

fashions & fads WHAT

GOES AROUND, COMES AROUND

What's hot in fashion this year? That's a question not easily answered as fashion is widely diverse and to each person it means something different. Despite this fact, distinct patterns in what people are wearing seem to catch on every year, that goes without saying. One of the hottest topics in fashion is definitely legs! Two of the best new looks this season are shorts and miniskirts, they're seen left and right, in every different size, shape and color.

A change in the dress code rules allowing shorts to be worn no more than two inches above the knee has made shorts a must have item in everyone's wardrobe this year. Styles range from colorful jams to baggy khaki's to form fitting cycling shorts. And these aren't the only leg-bearing pieces students are wearing!

More and more, skirts have become an essential part of girl's wardrobes. What's the latest? The return of the mini. Not since the sixties have miniskirts been worn so short. But although it's being called the rebirth of the mini, that's not exactly true. There are major differences between the sixties version and the updated eighties version. One prominent difference is that now there is more than one short look. And there are a wide variety of styles and colors.

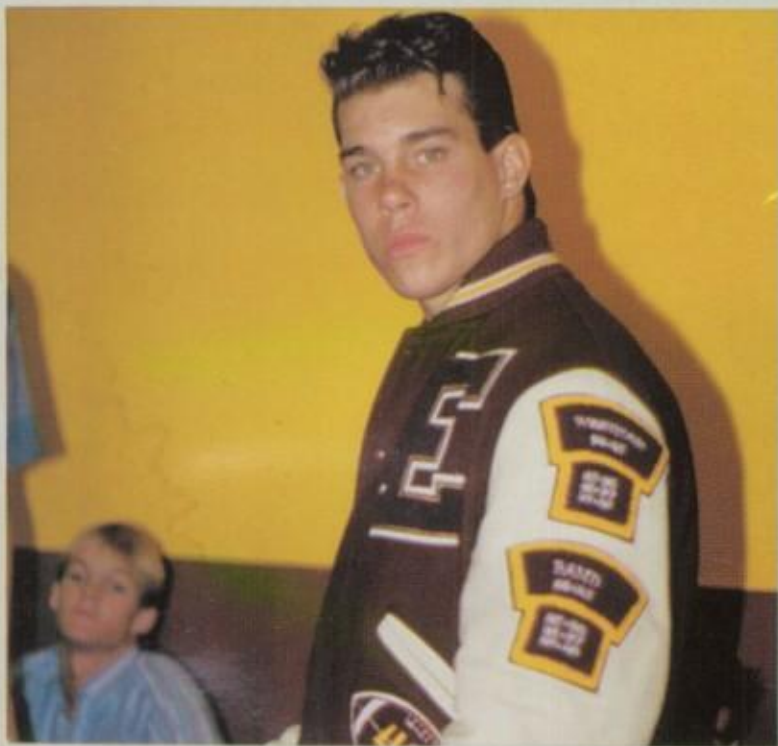

No matter if students are wearing shorts or miniskirts, one thing for sure, legs are highly visible everywhere!

Another hot topic in fashion this year is carefree sportswear. Knit pieces in stripes or solids, neutral colors like all black or all white steal the scene. Another sixties rerun that's gone eighties mod is Texas tie-dying. Pants, tops and even plain white t-shirts are hand dyed by a lot of students who prefer to have original fashion. Almost everything is paired off with a jeans jacket, another must have. Some guys are even seen sporting just a jeans jacket, and no shirt underneath. Jeans, the piece that's said to be "always in fashion" took on a whole new meaning this year. Casual is a word often used to describe them as some students even wore them torn-in-the knee or cut off. Some students were actually wearing old favorites that had been worn so much holes began appearing, while it was obvious that some sacrificed brand new jeans purposely for this trendy look.

Clothes aren't the only things that are sporty. A lot of student's attitudes are sporty too. Another repeat from the past, skate boarding, is a means for some to get to and from school. Other's transport in oldies but goodies like VW bugs, rabbits and others. Another aspect that can be described as sporty is student's hairstyles. Although hairstyles too, varied widely, many guys have obviously taken time to get such looks as the spike and the mohawk. The replay in hairstyles for guys? The flat-top. Girls seem to want a more "au naturel" look. Yet another style seen in the past that's made a come back: layering. And it too has taking on a new meaning. No longer is hair necessarily layered all around, instead subtle layering around just the face was seen all over.

Although the statement "what goes around, comes around" is definitely true, Eldorado students have changed the saying to "what goes around, comes around, and will never be the same."

Legs, legs, legs! They're the hottest topic in fashion this year. Skirts, in every style including the mini play a big part in fashion this season, too.

P EOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT ...

tradition

ALWAYS AROUND

Tradition is being the Freshman who is dumped head first into a trash can, getting your class ring, the Homecoming Dance and Junior-Senior prom, last but definitely not least, GRADUATION!

When you're a Freshman you go to school on your first day hoping you'll make it through the day without getting hopelessly lost and without spending all of your first hour trying to get your locker open. You make it through the day and you're heading for the buses, those childish Seniors see you and you are head first in a near by trash can before you know what hit you. The perfect finish to the perfect day in high school.

As a Sophomore you order your class rings and you go to the ring turning ceremony. You spend the next few weeks trying to get all your signatures along with a sore finger. The question is ... "Will you ever get them all?"

The Homecoming Dance and the Junior-Senior prom are both important moments of your high school years. There are times when girls go rushing around looking for a dress which nobody has and the boys are renting their tuxes, corsages are bought, limo's are rented, and dinner reservations are made. The day comes and you wake up with butterflies in your stomach. Just a little case of the nerves. The time finally arrives. Parents get camera happy and you get even more nervous. You arrive at the dance with your dream date. It's all that you expected and more.

Graduation arrives all too soon for Seniors. They order their cap and gowns and receive their tassels. Walking down that aisle and receiving those diploma's is like nothing they have ever felt before and for many will never feel again.

Tradition is special. It is something to look forward to and it is something that we will look back on with fond and happy memories. Tradition is something we will forever treasure, especially here at Eldorado!!!

IT'S AN ADDICTION

Shopping, one of the best sports around. Shopping is probably one of the things teenagers do most frequently and one of the things they do best. First of all, you get paid on Friday and then it's straight to the mall with a whole wad of cash in your hand, pocket, purse, or wallet. As soon as you get there you hope to find that "just perfect" outfit for that big date or party.

There are quite a few places to shop at, such as the local malls like the Meadows, Fashion Show, and the Boulevard. Some students were polled about what mall they like to shop at and the results are as follows: The Meadows came in first with 63%, The Fashion Show came in second with 21%, and The Boulevard came in third with 14%. As you can see a lot of people like going on money-spending trips. A few stated that they couldn't care less where they spent their money as long as they're with friends and the money gets spent. But not everyone goes with their friends, some for instance (literally) drag their parents along to hit them up for the items they want. Isn't that what parents are for? To take advantage of, right? But of course parents don't look at it like that. They tend to give you what you want every once in a while, but most parents believe in the Barter System which means doing the housework, cleaning the yard, taking the dog out for a stroll, etc. Just basically doing those dreaded chores everyone detests (including your parents). Unless your parents totally adore you, and they give you what you want without you even having to lift a finger. Then there are your typical parents who tell you to earn your own personal spending money because they don't want you to be a spoiled brat for the rest of your life. Either way, you still have to be decently nice to your parents to receive what your heart desires.

What exactly do people shop for? Anything and everything, I guess. And what for? Just any occasion. For example, birthday gifts, clothes, Christmas presents, etc. And of course, I'm sure everyone would absolutely love to find a set of parents on sale or maybe just for rent.

Come on think about it, shopping is a past time that will never grow out and become boring and tiring. Shopping is the one thing that everyone will do sometime in their life; some more than others, but 'that's life'.

While shopping for her Homecoming dress at a mall shop, Carrie Malcolm, junior, looks over a black gown.

BY WORD OF MOUTH

Walk through the halls of Eldorado (or any high school) what do you hear? Gossip being spread about almost everyone by almost everyone. Don't you participate in a little gossiping yourself? Who's doing what, who's with who, who's doing what with who—these are all topics of interest. A typical conversation might go like this:

"Did you hear about so-and-so's party last Saturday?"

"Naw. What up?"

"Well, what's-her-name and what's-his-face showed up."

"Are you serious?!"

"Yeah. And you-know-who and his brothers showed up too."

"Really?!"

"Yeah. And so-and-so's boyfriend was drunk and tried to start something with what's-her-name's cousin and you-know-who's brother and what's-her-names cousin's ex-girlfriend's sister's friend were trying to break it up and so-and-so and what's-her-names cousin's started fighting and everyone jumped in and it was real exciting and, and, and ..."

Understand? Well, you get the picture. Can you believe some people can go on for hours without inhaling?

Well, we're teenagers. We have a natural curiosity concerning our fellow teenagers. We're normal! Gossip is a way of life for some people, though, and it shouldn't be like this. Remember, what goes around comes around—especially when it goes through the grapevine.

Pep Assemblies, the place most students go to chant, cheer and get a little crazy, can also be a meeting place to exchange the latest word in gossip—straight from the grapevine.

FUN IN THE SUN!

TRAVELING: HIGH ON THE LIST FOR SUMMER

o you ever wonder what happened to your summer? A Lot of teenagers got summer jobs and were too busy to really enjoy their summer. Some didn't even get a vacation; but for others it was stay out all night and party, party, party. Whether it was a trip to Magic Mountain or a relaxing day at the beach, Eldorado students did find some way to stay busy and have some fun.

Those of us who worked wished we were out having fun with our friends. Organizations from Eldorado stayed busy with trips to camps and other such places. The cheerleaders and Songleaders wowed their spirit in Flagstaff, Arizona, members of the yearbook staff went to Santa Barbara, California for a yearbook seminar, and the Choir traveled to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania to perform in the Bicentennial Celebration. Some students preferred to just sit at home to watch their favorite soaps or lay out by their pool to catch some rays. Many students went out of state to visit relatives and friends while others had relatives and friends visiting them. Reunions with families were joyous and monotonous at the same time. Relatives ranged from favorite uncles to overprotective grandmothers.

Whether your summer was spent relaxing by the pool or mowing the lawn, Eldorado students know how to have fun in the sun!

THE POLYESTER INVASION

STUDENTS WORK HARD FOR THE MONEY

After the one-thirty bell where do students go? Home to talk on the phone about the latest news? Or do they go home and eat and watch some television? Or possibly do they go home and sleep? Well a majority of high school Juniors and Seniors go straight to work after school. They go home, make a quick change into a bunk polyester uniform and head to work. McDonalds and Carl's Junior were two of the most frequent places that Eldorado students work or worked. Some other places are K-Mart, L.A. Yogurt, Sunrise Seven, and Little Caesars Pizza. Most of these jobs are only part time during the school year. The part time employee usually works 4-8 hours per day, and about 4-5 days a week. The pay for these jobs is another story. Minimum wage is $3.35 per hour. That's not much for the work that some of these people do. But the biggest complaint is yet to come!

Toni Monsoor, Senior used to work at McDonalds. She told us that, "Wearing that stupid uniform made me feel like an old lady!" The uniforms that employees wear are the biggest complaints. The uniform usually consists of a pair of polyester pants, a shirt and maybe even an apron or hat. Most of the fast food chains require that you wear this uniform. Joshua Bernat, Junior, didn't seem to think so. He thinks, "I didn't feel a difference between my uniform and my normal clothes." He used to work at Carl's Junior. Trishun Jackson, Junior, is also an employee of Carl's Junior. She said that, "Wearing a polyester uniform is gross. It's always hot and sticky and hard to move in."

Michelle Digregorio,

Senior, is a former employee of Vons Grocery Store. Her biggest complaint was that, "They aren't Vogue!" Laura Merrill, Junior, used to work at Long John Silvers. She told us that, "Wearing a polyester uniform gives me a feeling of ants crawling all over my body. It's the worst feeling in life."

Natalie Woods, junior, prepares a customer's lunch order at Subs 'N' Such.

ELDORADO'S DATING SCENE

WHAT DO SUNDEVILS EXPECT ON A DATE?

Dating seems to be a fairly common thing in your Junior and Senior years of high school. It's the cool thing to do, you know, you like someone and you'd like to go out with them to see what he or she is like outside of school. In the past years it was traditional for the guys to ask the girl out, but things have changed. Now girls have the right to ask a guy out. But what do people expect on these dates? Just good looks, or a nice dinner and movie, or be treated especially nice? Well, to give you an idea of the opinions that some Eldorado students have, we asked people what they expect on their dates and the replies varied.

Jun-Jun Casimiro, Junior, said that "I like girls to dress real nice, have a nice body, and a good personality." Lisa Blake, Senior, said "I would like to go to a show and dinner. I like a guy to dress real nice, fashionable, and especially nice shoes." The over all appearance of a person seems to be very important on a date. People mainly like to see FASHION. Pam Dayton and Kristin Wohlrab, both Seniors, told us about their dream date. They said jokingly, "First, the guy has to be a total babe! And dress G.Q., no shorts or surf attire! He has to be loaded with money and drive a BMW. And of course be on his BEST behavior. Nothing but the best for us. Oh, it would also be nice if he surprised us with a dozen red roses!!" Dream on girls!

Another big topic was manners and the way people want to be treated. Stacy Wagner, Junior, said that "The guy should dress nice, have a great personality, be exciting, and a gentleman. I would also like to be comfortable." Ryan Brooks, Senior, said "Simple courtesy, fairly well dressed, polite. Somebody who would be happy regardless of where you took them." Alissa Burton, Junior, said that "I expect him to dress formal, he should behave and not rush things. The average guy would try something." Neil Mayfield, Senior, says "I expect to have a good time. I don't want to be nervous." A lot of the replies we got were about feeling comfortable and having manners. No one likes to go out with someone rude and obnoxious.

The last major topic was about where people would like to go. Shana Hyatt, Senior, said "I expect to go to the movies and maybe out to eat." Paul Amyot, Junior, says "I like to go to a really nice place to eat and have a real good time." Jennifer Zuniga, Junior, said that "I expect to have a good time and for him to spend a little money on me." A typical date these days usually consists of a movie and dinner. This can run about $25-$35. For a recreational type date you could go to Scandia and play miniature golf or in the summer you can go to Wet'n-Wild lake. So for you Freshmen and Sophomores we hope this can help you in your future dating years.

"I expect to have a good time ... i don't want to be nervous"—NEIL MAYFIELD

Sunrise 7, the movie theatre that was built last year, has become a popular spot to go on dates.

The Homecoming Dance provided the atmosphere for a great place to go on a date.

Football games are another popular option to go with a date. Tracy Cothran, junior, spends a lot of time at games watching boyfriend Jason Birmingham, also junior, play.

THEY'RE HERE!!!

STUDENTS RETURN TO SCHOOL

August 27, 1987: It's the first day of school! Everyone is dressed in their new outfits and have big, smiling faces. They're all excited about the new school year. But, we all know how long it took to prepare for this long awaited day! HOURS! Clothes have to be ironed just perfect, make-up (if you're a girl) has to be applied carefully, and of course, your hair has to be styled just right. But then how did everyone get to school? Freshman and Sophomores do have their own cars if they have achieved their driver's license. Juniors and Seniors usually have their own cars so they drive themselves. At this point Seniors are feeling "Almighty," Juniors are feeling "Bad," Sophomores are feeling "Cool," and the Freshman feel "Groovy." Actually the Freshman are shaking in their Trax tennis.

As everyone is pulling in to the student parking lot, their stomachs are all excited, wondering what this day has in store for them. Holding your breath as you walk into the building you hope that you're friends are close by. Everyone's looking around at everyone's outfits making sure that theirs is unique.

The clicks begin to form in the Cafeteria (or as some call it, the Student Activity Center.) The loud, gruff voices are usually the "Sporto's." They usually occupy the very center tables. The high pitched, giggling voices are the Cheerleaders. They also sit in the center of the Cafeteria. The Theater People usually gather by the Theater or they hang out in the Theater. (It makes sense doesn't it.) The "Stoners" always hang out directly across the street from school — getting the last puffs of their cigs. The "Skaters" are always in front of the school so that they can perform their skateboard tricks. New Students sit in the Cafeteria waiting for someone to meet.

It's 7:25 and the first bell rings. People are ready to go to their homeroom. Students receive their new schedules — naturally some problems may arise. Quickly they proceed to find their new classes through the crowded halls.

When the lunch bell finally rings at 10:10 or 11:05, Freshman run to be the first ones in the lunch line. But of course, the Seniors and Juniors rush out to McDonalds, Taco Bell, and Arby's.

Sophomores may sometimes get the privilege of going to lunch with one of their Upperclassmen friends or else it's Cafeteria food all the way.

But what did everybody do after school? Varsity Players were afterschool at practice. Some went to the lake or work. But the majority? Home to SLEEP!

During the Homecoming Half Time, Ms. Travers definitely got it good.

SPUD MANIA

Haven't you often wondered why most people are wearing shirts with a party animal on it? Well, that's Spuds Mackenzie, a bull terrier dog. He's the Senior Party Consultant for a favorite beverage. Spud travels the world seeking out new and different ways to be the life of the party. Spuds is a symbol of fun. The company has manufactured many products. Stuffed animals, mugs, clothes, ice buckets, posters, and decorative mirrors and other paraphernalia are to name a few. While asking students if they had purchased some of these products, Michelle Kotelly, a senior replied:

"I've got a Spuds stuffed dog, tee-shirt, and a Spuds mug." Sophomore, Britney Carter answered:

"I have three tee-shirts, two sweat shirts and a stuffed Spud."

It seems to be that tee-shirts and stuffed animals are the big seller with our generation. Although those are most popular, the other products are doing just as well.

Like many other companies that have products to symbolize them, we often wonder if Spuds Mackenzie will become a collectors item. About 50% of the students questioned said they wouldn't become memorabilia of 1987-88.

"Collectors items, but of course, that Spuds mug you have will be worth millions." Stated Yvonne Dettlaff, a junior. A freshman, Jamie Newton added:

"I don't think they'll become collectors items, because he's getting old." Kristina Garza, a freshman said:

"It's just a fad."

There are many opposing opinions. But whatever you do, don't throw away your Spuds Mackenzie ice bucket. As an advertising scheme companies will endorse their product. In return these companies make more money. We all have a favorite food, beverage, car, etc. . . . These all have brand names. If you're an avid Pepsi drinker, you would love to own a Pepsi shirt, glass or whatever. These big companies know that and they make all kinds of collectables and souvenirs available to the consumers.

Junior, Eric Pauling stated:

"They have the old generation buying the beverage. Now they are trying to appeal to the younger generation."

Maybe Spuds owners just love their dog," sophomore, Mondo Garza mentioned.

Ask yourself this question? Would you purchase more Spuds Mackenzie products or is seventeen enough?

Amy Stahl, senior said:

"I would if you give me some more money."

THE EXCITEMENT OF CLEAT WEEK

The Golden Cleat is a famous shoe given to Eldorado High School by ex-Los Angeles Ram Merlin Olsen, who the world reknowned as part of the "Fear-some Foursome". Each year we celebrate "Victory or Defeat" of the cleat by holding special dress up days, spirit assemblies, and finally the grueling football game against our long time enemy Chaparral, to recover the bronzed trophy. Students were exceptionally responsive to the week of cheering and spirit boosting. The enthusiastic dress-up days, which included "Rootin-Tootin" cowboy day, our "Rocky Balboa" boxer day, and maroon and gold day, were popular with all the students.

The assembly on Friday afternoon kicked off our exciting motives for preparing for a vigorous game. This year the new students who were unaware of what the Golden Cleat represented soon understood and enjoyed the spirited festival by following the upperclassmen's example.

Although the results of the warlike game was against Eldorado, the incentive of again holding the cleat in our clutches determines our future players to lead us on to VICTORY. Next year at the same time, we will compete once again for the Cleat and hope to put it into our hands once again.

ELDORADO SPIRIT

SHINES THROUGH

Awesome. That's one word that describes Homecoming '87. Filled with fun and spirit, the majority of the student body, and even faculty, participated in some way. Monday marked "Punk Rock" day, with students creating new "styles" of dyed hair and crazy outfits. Tuesday was "Do as the Romans do" as students wore togas for "Toga Day". On Wednesday the halls looked like the set of "Revenge of the Nerds" as students and faculty carried around their favorite lunchboxes. Thursday was "Tourist Day", with Hawaii outfits and beach apparell brightening the halls of Eldorado. Friday marked traditional "Maroon and Gold day" with students going so far as to paint their faces and hair with our school colors. Thursday, the day of the Junior Varsity Homecoming game, Student Council and various students lit the "E" on Sunrise Mountain as more students and Student Council members held a candle-light rally on the football field despite the pouring rain. Jenny Makowski, senior, stated "Homecoming week was a VERY creative week. There were a lot of good costumes." This truly has to be one of the best Homecoming weeks ever in the history of Eldorado. It just goes to show everyone that the E.H.S. student body plus faculty have plenty of spirit waiting to be cut loose at the most unpredictable moments. Way to go Eldorado! All in all, Homecoming '87 was full of memories that will undoubtedly last a lifetime.

SUNDEVILS PROVE

IT'S NOT OVER 'TILL IT'S OVER

It began in mid-summer, the anticipation was overwhelming; the day finally came: the 1987 Homecoming Game. It was October 23, 1987 and the Eldorado Sundevils were preparing to take on the Western Warriors. The floats were lined up ready to join the parade, as were the expensive cars, all handsomely decorated. Maroon and gold crepe paper and balloons adorned the field. Earlier in the day, the weatherman had predicted it would be cold with a chance of thundershowers. The parade began at 5:30 p.m. with a lengthy procession of floats and cars. The crowd cheered as their respective floats and cars passed by. As the Homecoming Royalty passed by in their cars, the rain began to fall. As the procession made it's final trek around the field, it began to pour. Students and alumni huddled to keep warm and dry as the game began. Strong gusts of wind began to whip through the stands and threatened to destroy the decorations. As many of the floats fell apart, one stood tall; the Seniors'. Their banner proudly read the Homecoming theme.

"It's Not Over 'Til It's Over." Within minutes the rain came to a stop as the game went into full swing. The Song-leaders and Cheer-leaders, though soaking wet, took the field to cheer the team onto victory. The crowd, composed of students, parents, and alumni, cheered along to motivate the team to beat Western, thus winning the first Homecoming game for Eldorado in five years. The entire student body combined to make this the best Homecoming in the history Eldorado, and proved, "It's Not Over 'Til It's Over."

Michelle Cave, Junior Class President, gives the crew the "go" sign to light the "E".

Everyone, the candidates are doing their own thing as they wait to go back across the nicely decorated gym.

"THAT'S WHAT HOMECOMING IS ALL ABOUT

"That's What Love is All About" rang through the gym as 20 Senior couples waited nervously in their formals. It was finally the day of the Homecoming King and Queen nominees to present themselves to the student body. Everyone looked their best. Guys looked handsome in their tuxedos and girls were gorgeous. The gym was decorated beautifully by Student Council, S.O.S. and Choir performed exceptionally well.

How did the candidates feel? As the students pour into the gym at the beginning of the assembly, the candidates stand ready as they receive hugs and reassuring words from friends and relatives. The lights dim as last year's Homecoming King and Queen David Jackson and

Allison Densley took their positions. It was time to begin. Pam Dayton who was nominated by the J.V. Cheerleaders, said, "I was nervous, excited, and happy all at the same time. DAZED!" Shana Hyatt went on to say, "I was pretty nervous but it helped to walk with such a good friend." Accompanied by Marc "Catman" Wilson, Shana was nominated by the Freshman Cheerleaders.

After the assembly was over the candidates stood and talked about their fears of falling or embarrassing themselves in front of their friends. Knowing that this would be their last candidates assembly, many cried. Julie Bernat, nominated by the Yearbook Staff, said, "I was relieved it was all over, but I was so sad that it was the last Candidates Assembly."

Kristin Wohlrab smiles away as Mary Danzinger says "I want My pictur taken!!"

The Homecoming attendants nervously laugh as they await for the start of the assembly.

Steve Konst and Joanna Thome face the cameras with a nervous smile.

HOMECOMING '87

A BREAK IN TRADITION

"I can't believe the Homecoming Dance is going to be in the cafeteria," said one Eldorado student. "Why can't we have it somewhere else?" said another. These were just a few comments made by E.H.S. students when it was announced that the 1987

Homecoming Dance would be held in the Student Activity Center (more commonly known as the cafeteria). Student Council, the official organizing committee, was bombarded with questions as well as complaints. Ms. Travers, Student Council Advisor, said "the number of places (available for holding the dance) were limited and they (Student Council officers) decided that our cafeteria had more space to accommodate the dance."

Although students complained, the Homecoming Dance was as successful as ever. Upon entering the cafeteria, a pleasing sight met the eye. This was no longer the cafeteria we all knew, it had been transformed into another world entirely. There were royal blue and silver decorations reaching from ceiling to floor. The food service windows had been covered by a royal curtain and the "Sundevils Rule" sign had been masqueraded by a beautiful pastel mural. Everything looked magnificent!

At 9:00 the coronation of the 1987 Homecoming Royalty Court was set to be announced. As the highly awaited hour drew near, students began to whisper amongst themselves as to who would be crowned King and Queen. When Stephanie Rainbolt and Wynn Hanlon approached the loud speaker, the exhilarating moment was even more intense.

Then finally it was announced: Mark Simmons and Pam Dayton received the honor of 3rd attendants; Warren Gray and Lisa Blake received the honor of 2nd attendants; Kenny Kurth and Lynelle Constantine received the honor of first attendants and Marc Wilson and Shana Hyatt were crowned King and Queen.

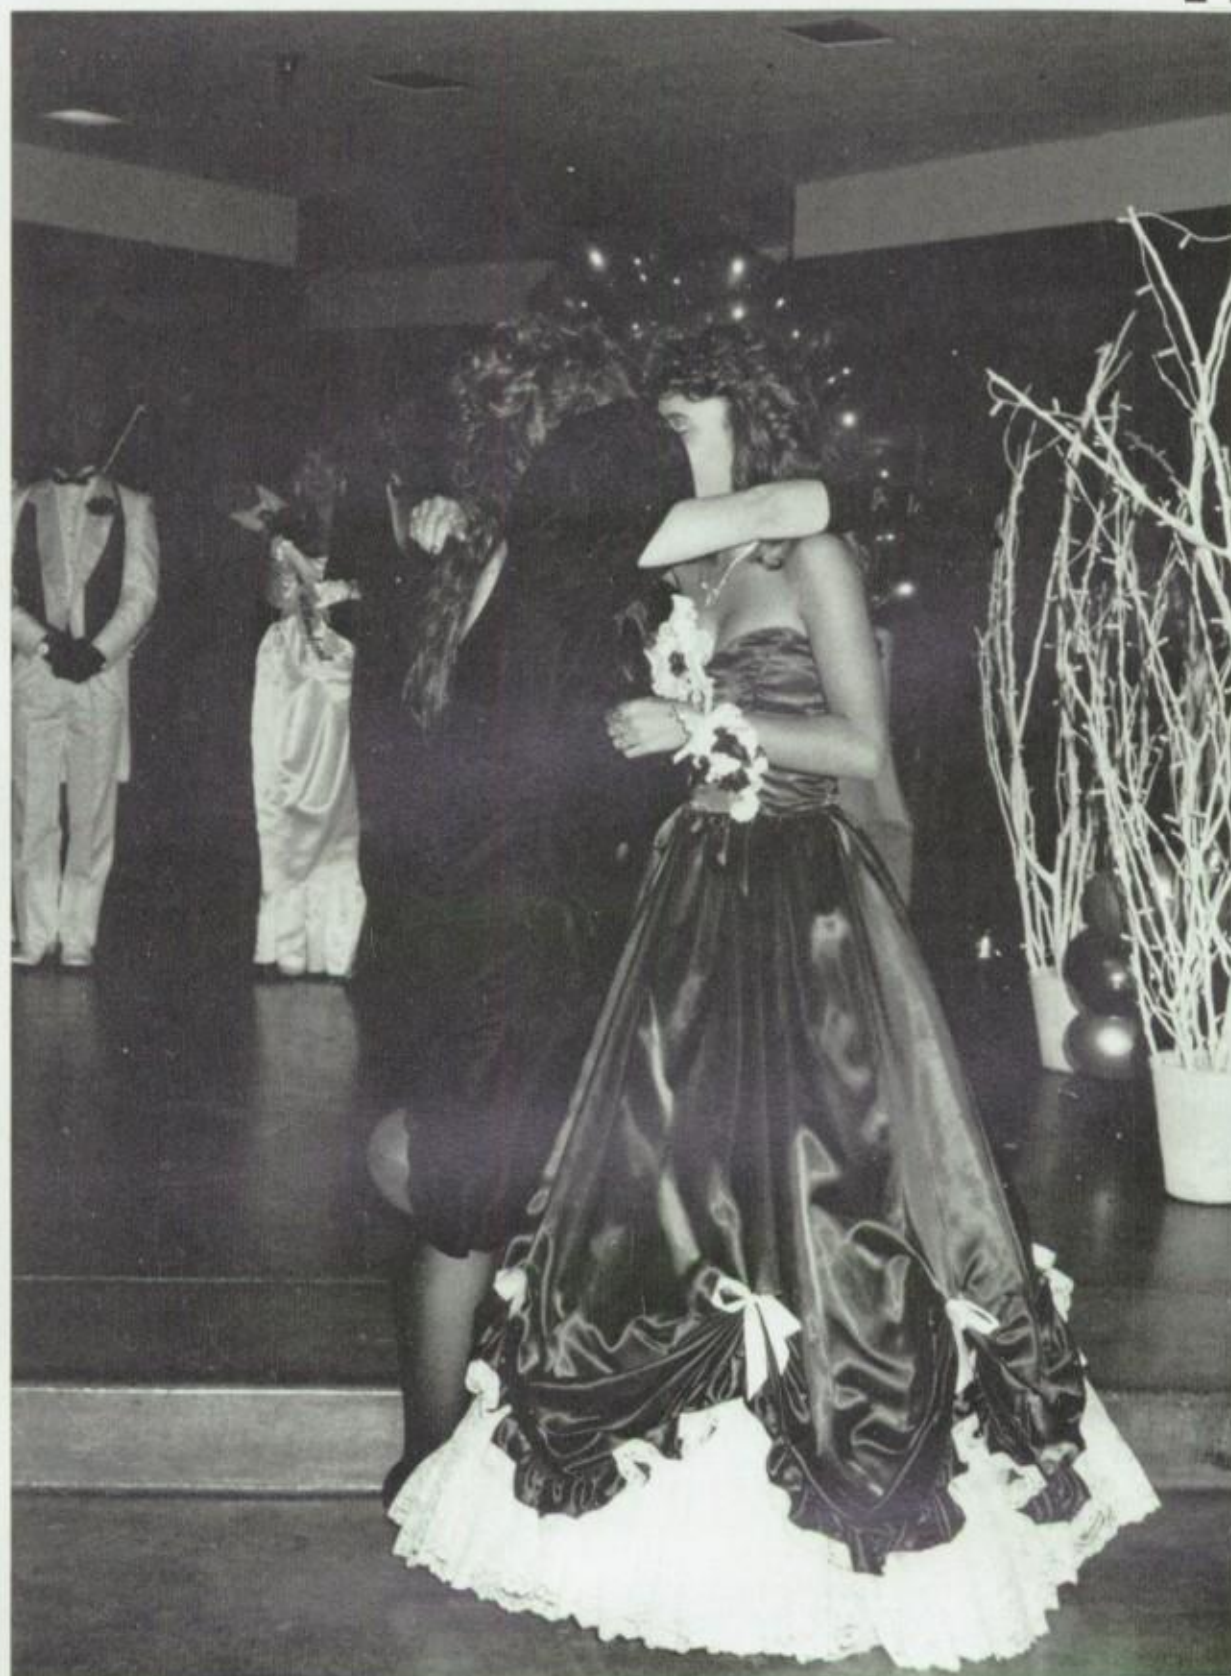

Lisa Blake commented, "I was happy, and at the same time relieved that it was all over," she went on to say, "I was very proud to be chosen." Shana Hyatt said, "I was happy and really surprised. It's a feeling that's really hard to describe. It made me feel good all over."

Despite complaints and doubts, the 1987 Homecoming Dance turned out to be a great success. Thanks are in order to all of the people who attend the dance and to Student Council, who made the dance the best ever!

STUDENTS PLAN A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING.

GOING TO THE CHAPEL

"Goin' to the chapel, and we're gonna get married ..." was heard on January 15th as the annual mock wedding was presented by the Family Life classes. This wedding was unquestionably unique because it was the first Roman Catholic wedding in the history of our school. This type of marriage is always held in a church, although this was the one exception as it was held in the "chapel" Room 144. The importance of this wedding is that the sacrament is said by both the bride and groom.

Lisa Blake, the "blushing bride," planned the mauve and grey wedding with help from Mike Jewitt the "handsome groom". Lisa chose Rosa Zorilla as her maid of honor, with Connie Rowan, Julie Bernat, and Lorrie Standridge as her bridesmaids. Mike's groomsmen were: Noel Casmiro, Art Novahom, and Chris Cave, with Don Feathers as his bestman. There was also the "priest" who performed the ceremony.

The traditional wedding-march "Here Comes The Bride", was played as the invited guests stood and waited for the processional to begin. As the bride and groom took their places, the ceremony started. Mr. Turek, the "presiding priest" began his oration. Throughout his speech, he explained the importance of marriage, love and commitment. Next, the vows were promised and they exchanged wedding "rings". With a quick peck, Lisa Blake and Mike Jewitt became "husband and wife", at last.

Everyone gathered outside to wish the "Newlyweds" a happy "Honeymoon". The new couple hopped into the "honeymoon express" and clanked and bonked to their destination: a two minute trip around the school. When they returned, they celebrated their "new beginning" with a toast and the traditional cutting of the cake. Just then, they wished for the supreme fortune: to live happily ever after ...

Noel Casimero, Don Feathers, Art Novahome and Chris Cave were the groomsmen.

Mike Jewett, Lisa Blake, are full of smiles as they toast to their "Marriage."

Students Enjoy The Sadie Hawkins Hoe Down

Gals' Grab Your Guys!

A long time ago there was an old maid in Dogpatch U.S.A. by the name of Sadie Hawkins. She was never asked out on dates, so finally one day she decided she would break the old custom and instead asked the guy of her liking to a dance. The tradition has since then been kept by the girl asking her favorite guy to the dance set aside just for that purpose and named after Sadie Hawkins herself. Eldorado takes part in keeping that tradition alive by throwing the annual Sadie Hawkins Hoe Down.

Presented every year by the Junior Class Officers, the Sadie Hawkins Dance is always a big hit, and this year was no exception. The two months time that was spent preparing and organizing every detail of the dance certainly paid off in the end. The organizers of the dance transformed our cafeteria into an old fashioned barnyard, including a real tractor and hay bales. Even though the preparations for it were endless, the Junior Class Officers said they had a magnificent time doing it and would do it all over again, just as long as they had the help of their wonderful advisors, Mr. Amudson and Mrs. Canfield.

The Sadie Hawkins Dance may not be as hypped up or as fancy as The Homecoming Dance or Prom, but it is a lot of fun. Everyone dresses "hill billy" style and takes part in the many different activities such as the Marriage Booth for the more "serious" couples. The booth was run by Mr. and Mrs. Russel. Mr. Russel or "Father Russel" as some couples called him, married off the happy pairs. The "bride and groom" received a wedding ring, a marriage certificate, and a snap shot picture together. Couples could also get pictures taken in a country setting.

One day before the dance, students were nominated by clubs and other organizations for the Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae Contest. Jars were set out to collect pennies and by the end of the day, the pair in each class collecting the most were selected as that classes' Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae. The winners were: Freshman: Nate Santucci and Julie Konst, Sophomores: Nathon Cowsil and Krista Brooks, Juniors: Kurt Wohlrab and Wynn Hanlon and Seniors: Phillip Kunisch and Cori Bower.

All in all, Sadie Hawkins '88 was one to remember. Maybe it was summed up best by the Junior Class President, Michelle Cave, who called it "a royal blast."

Students Gather Down on Skid Row for the Opening of

Little Shop of Horrors

The curtain rises on the scene-skid row in a big city during the 1950's. There we see Mushnik's Flower Shop, ten girls called the Ronettes dance on stage singing the theme song: "Little Shop, Little Shop of Horrors ..."

This sets the theme for the musical-a comedy about a boy and his girl and a monster plant. It's the 17th of March-opening night for the musical and also the premiere performance of "Little Shop of Horrors" in Las Vegas. The boy, Seymour, portrayed by Brian Van Vranken, finds a strange plant which he named after his love, Audrey played by Shannon Sheldon. Throughout the play, the plant (Audrey II) grows and grows feeding on the blood of human victims, and soon Audrey II begins to dominate Seymour's life. Seymour gains fame due to the unusual plant, and because of that Seymour helps Audrey II with his first victim, Orin Scrivello, D.D.S., portrayed by Paul Brawer-Seymour's rival for Audrey. But finally Seymour wins the love of Audrey and destroys the monstrous plant.

One of the most distinctive characters in the musical was Audrey II, played by several sized foam rubber plants to show it's progressive growth throughout the play, until finally it reached monstrous proportions. Audrey II's various stages were played by Marilyn Montes, Brian Van Vranken, Robert Jackson, and Robert Mayers. Although the rehearsal time was cut, everyone in the play performed excellently. Paul Brawer who portrays Orin Scrivello (D.D.S.) commented, "our rehearsal time was cut drastically, so we had to get down to business, right away." The players of the musical all say that in order to prepare themselves for their roles they studied the movie version a lot. "I studied the movie and the script a lot to get a feel for the character," stated Shannon Sheldon who plays Audrey. Brian Van Vranken said that the movie version came in handy when he was studying the vocals. The premiere of "Little Shop of Horrors" was a big hit and also a big accomplishment of the Eldorado Theatre Department. It was best stated by Tracy Bower who was stage manager for the musical when she said "we have the best theatre department in the state."

Black History Week

Who Am I?

Black History Week with the theme "Who Am I?" began on February 25 at the Eldorado High School Theatre in observance of great black Americans and their contributions to society.

Some of the skits performed were dances by the Lady Dominator who were performed by Tiffany Walker and Keshia Douglas, Fantastic Females performed by Latonya Hall, T'Sharra Wright and Audrey Warren, and No Half Stepping-Vogue performed by Paris Franklin and Nichy Irvin. Angela Reid performed the soliloquy of the theme "Who Am I", and the cast paid a tribute to Martin Luther King, just to name a few of the acts performed that night.

"Black History Week means unwritten or unrecorded history of the black man in the United States of America," states Mr. Askor, who was one of the support groups in the program. When asked what feeling does Black History leave you with, Mrs. Childress replied, "It gave me a chance or opportunity to express my heritage and the extent that I feel inside for me and my people and the contribution that we made to the United States of America". Overall, everyone did a superb job.

MAKING THE YEAR...

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER

Changes and significant decisions marked an exceptional year for the student council officers. They worked hard all year long to have fun activities and dances for student body.

Planning of homecoming 1987, was a week filled with many new ideas. One of which was to elect to make homecoming different this year by having it in the student center rather than at the traditional site: a major hotel. The dance had a sensational turn out.

You always see the student council officers on their knees making posters that tell us to show our spirit on dress-up days and remind us of an upcoming dances. However, student council involve themselves in much more activities such as planning graduation, school improvement, organizing assemblies and even do a little community service. So as you can see the student council have many responsibilities. They are the people who help give us our high school memories.

"NOISES OFF" AND "NOTHING ON"

BRITISH FARCE

The Eldorado Theatre Department opened its year with their production of "Noises Off". Written by Micheal Frayne, the play opened on Broadway and is still running there today. The three-act comedy tells of a British Theatre Troupe's attempts to put on a play called "Nothing On". Under the direction of Ms. Emmett, the play was another superb production by the Sundevil Players.

Eldorado Theatre carried on their traditional success in their fall production of the Broadway smash hit "Noises Off". Micheal Frayn's British comedy, which held its success on Broadway from December 11, 1983 to April 6, 1985, was quite an overwhelming success for Eldorado as well. The hit, which drew a large audience each night, received great recognition from the community. Eldorado theatre's production of "Noises Off" was a hysterically zanny action packed farce that entertained all.

"There is something to being a tax exile," says Freddie (Robert Routin) to Belinda (Kate Maxam).

SUNDEVIL SPIRIT: CATCH IT IF YOU CAN!

It's 1:00 p.m. on a Friday afternoon in mid-September. Suddenly, the thundering of a bass drum radiates through the air as the band files into the gym. Student council members wallpaper the gym with posters as the Spiritleaders finish setting up chairs for the football players. The gym is instantly filled with students, all rowdy and rearin' to go. It's spirit assembly time, the time when it's okay to be loud, rowdy, and yes, even crazy. The M.C. of the assembly comes over to the microphone as the gym fills to maximum capacity. The Seniors begin the class competition with the Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshman joining in, all vying for the title of most spirited. Who wins? We'll see!

The Freshman class, not exactly sure what to do, follows the lead of the other classes. While their confidence may not be apparent, their raw spirit is. They demonstrate their spirit when they give the Seniors a run for their money in the competitions. Although they are new comers to spirit assemblies, the Freshman class demonstrate true Sundevil Spirit.

The Sophomores of E.H.S., one year veterans of spirit assemblies are often looked up to by the Freshman. The Sophomore's spirit is apparent as they become rowdier at each assembly. Their class spirit shakes the gym as the prime examples to the Freshman, and "... show'em where it's at."

Now it's time for the Junior class. With only one year to go, they give the Seniors some real competition! As they rehearse for their Senior year, they demonstrate true Sundevil Spirit by having one of the largest turn outs at the assembly. They more than prove to be "Jammin Juniors."

And now the Seniors. The class of '88. As their last year at E.H.S. comes to a close, their spirit is unstoppable! They zoom across the floor in the tri-cycle race, win the donut eating race in a mere seven seconds, never losing their paper crowns. Who ever said Seniors had to be mature?

Although the assembly is winding down, the crowd isn't. The Seniors win the class competition, but received a good fight from all of the classes. Whether the Freshman, Sophomores, Juniors, or Seniors win the class competition is not important. The important thing is that each class at E.H.S. demonstrates true Sundevil Spirit.

Students really get involved in assemblies.

Cheerleaders get a chance to show their stuff.

Fred, the mascot, gets the chance to chat with the Songleaders.

The crowd shows their enthusiasm and excitement at a Spirit Assembly.

ANNUAL BLOOD DRIVE

November 19, 1987 marked the annual EHS Blood Drive. 148 students and faculty cared enough to donate blood this year, and the Blood Bank was very pleased with the turnout; which was one of the largest ever at EHS.

Although some donaters were scared, a few even fainted, all felt it was a small price to pay. Strong minded Mike Hollingshead was asked why he donated, "Because I have enough for myself, why not?" The drive proceeded throughout the afternoon as students came and went in the library, where the drive was held.

Students were strongly encouraged to eat a balanced breakfast before donating, but some did not heed the warning. Brett Folk was a little "light headed" after he donated, as was Joanna Thome. Student Council, who anticipated this reaction from some students, were on hand to supply cookies and punch to help restore student's strength.

All in all, the 1987-88 Blood Drive was a huge success as once again EHS students prove that they care enough to help.

PRACTICE...

"Guys, let's try it again, only this time with music," directs captain, Lisa Blake. Looking a little sleepy-eyed, the girls get into their positions. The music begins; each girl performs the routine, some are still a little shaky which is expected as it's only their first time performing the routine to music. Watching them, Lisa and co-captain, Shannon Sheldon, realize they need some coordination. When the music stops, Lisa says, "your rhythm is off, let's try it again." This time her and Shannon perform it with them. When the music ends, Lisa rewinds the tape and says, "They're looking better," whispers Shannon. It's 6:55 a.m. on a typical weekday morning practice. Typical as Songleaders are used to such early practices. All summer long, every day, practice began at 6:00 a.m. Lisa Blake comments, "the practice is hard work, it's not all fun and games at all." But it's because of the daily practices that the songleaders are so close now. "We're like a bunch of sisters who borrow each other's clothes," says Shannon Sheldon, "we fight all the time." Lisa adds, "we're a family now."

On July 31, 1987, the songleaders went to Flagstaff, Arizona to attend the NAU (Northern Arizona University) Cheerleading Camp. While there, they won a Superior Trophy on their home routine which they had worked on all summer long. They also won the Spirit Stick for two nights. After returning from camp on August 3, songleaders began their hectic schedule again. They now had to plan for the football season and two-a-day practices. During the traditional "hell week" the songleaders brought fruits like watermelons and oranges to very deserving but also very grateful football players who had survived. Tracy Bower, replied, "it was funny, even though they were all hot and dirty they didn't just charge after the food, they actually said thank you and everything."

PRACTICE!

A strong beat is provided by the drummers of Eldorado's band. Hit it guys!

After school began, the next priority was preparing for the first spirit assembly. The songleaders all worked extremely hard and when the assembly finally came they performed more proud than ever, because as Lisa Blake put it best, "we just have a lot of spirit for our school, we love our team." Even though practice is tough, and there's disappointment the songleaders believe it's worth it. Shannon Sheldon said, "I think it's the neatest thing when some person you've never seen before comes up and says 'hi, I know you, I saw you at the assembly, you did a really good job.'"

"Hi-ya!" Although the Karate Club is a new organization, it's obvious that the Martial Arts has it's place at Eldorado.

Without the help of our playful mascot, Veronica Fuller, things wouldn't be the same at Eldorado.

"Are you kidding me?" asks Kim Stark when told what was going on in Law and Crime.

The 35th annual Sun Youth Forum was held this year with 49 EHS students participating. Held in the Las Vegas Convention Center, the Forum gave students from all of the Las Vegas area High Schools the opportunity to discuss topics that are important to today's world. Students were divided among the seven topics, which included: Teen Topics, America, Around the World, Potpourri, School Daze, Home in Nevada, and Law and Crime.

Students were chosen to participate in the event based on recommendations from Government and U.S. History teachers as well as student's cumulative Grade Point Averages.

GIVING YOUR ALL

One of Eldorado's most challenging clubs is Varsity Quiz. Our Eldorado team-mates compete among Southern Nevada's finest scholars to find out who is the best of the best in general knowledge. The club is open to anyone who enjoys a challenging game with difficult questions. Questions can range from the most difficult and specialized to the most simplistic.

During the games, the team-mates have to be very quick pressing the buzzer and intelligent enough to answer the questions correctly. It takes about six weeks of preparation for our Eldorado team-mates to be physically and mentally ready to compete in their first game of the year. This truly is an exciting game that will keep you on the edge of your seat at all times.

There is intense pressure and anxiety involved during the matches. The team-mates have Mr. Clark to advise them and help lessen the pressure while their energetic minds are busy at work trying to answer each question correctly, win each round and win each game.

The last Varsity Quiz game played this year was a close one. We lost by one point, the opposing team had 125 points and Eldorado had 124. Just because they were only one question behind does not mean that they lost totally. What counts is that they went out there and gave it all they had. No matter if our Eldorado team wins or loses in Varsity Quiz, the experience of competing and knowing they did their best makes them much better individuals as a whole.

"I thought when I joined the questions would be hard, but actually, they were easy. It's all a matter of quickness." Quote by Eddie Foulkrod.

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America is a club that gives students the chance to compete in vocational areas. Our chapter competes mainly in Commercial Photography. One first competition is Regionals which included people within our chapter. Then the top competitors from regional go on to State. At state, you compete with the top students from other schools all over Nevada. The top 3 are awarded medals and the first place winner goes to Nationals. Nationals included the first place winner from each state in the U.S. One top 3 winners at nationals are awarded metals and prizes. These prizes may included scholarships and photography materials.

One past 3 years, Eldorado has won the top 5 places in State and have placed in the top 3 at the national level. There is never a special photo that wins. Any photograph that has perfect qualities can win.

V.I.C.A. has fund raisers that send its members on many educational trips. Some of these include trips to Kansas, where the National V.I.C.A. convention was held last year. The club also goes to Brooks Institute in Santa Barbara, California; Yosemite National Park and Carson City.

COMING TOGETHER

Teamwork: it's a small word with a large meaning. This is especially true for the Yearbook Staff. Ask any staff member and they'll tell you the same-teamwork means getting by with a lot of help from your friends. Without teamwork there wouldn't be a Yearbook. Although that may sound overstated, it's really true. If we weren't able to function as a team nothing would be accomplished. As a staff we had two main goals: 1.)to meet each and every deadline and 2.)to make the yearbook the best it could possibly be.

With these two goals in mind, the year began. Although most of the staff members were new and inexperienced, by the time the first deadline rolled around, we had really become a family; and like any regular family we certainly had our share of ups and downs.

On the "up" side, after our third deadline, which was a real killer, the staff took a trip to Mt. Charleston and had a fun-filled day of adventure. On the "down" side, we had to say good-bye to our friend and advisor, "Pom," who left at the end of the first semester. Even though he left, we still managed to get the job done.

On the contrary to what some people think, it's not all fun and games. It takes a lot of hard work and dedication. Hours and hours of after school time as well as weekends were spent at the Yearbook headquarters to meet deadline, and sell ads. Over the summer, editors Julie Bernat, Jenny Mak, Sharon Patronik and Michelle Caudel attended S.C.Y.S. Yearbook Seminar in Santa Barbara, California. While there, they chose this year's theme.

With the addition of eight pages, the embossed cover, and our original tear and theme "People Are Talking About . . .," this year's yearbook proved to be the best ever.

"The staff is full of hard working and dedicated people"-Michelle Caudel.

HOT OFF THE PRESS!

That's right, read all about it in Suncoop, the new official newspaper of Eldorado. With a new advisor, Mrs. Lindsey, and an all new staff, they produce a monthly paper that keep students informed of issues that affect them. Petrified as to what the outcome would be at first, "We received positive responses from everyone," said Tracy Bower, Editor. She's found that being Editor, "... is hectic and exhausting, but it's fun. The other editors, and the staff as a whole, is a big help."

Mr. Paulin has helped the staff a great deal. He has given them a "grant" to pay for the publication of the paper, as well as helping them to obtain the equipment needed."

The school as a whole has been very responsive and supportive of the newspaper and the staff. Good job Suncoop!

It was off with a bang as the German Club members kicked off the year with a get-acquainted social at Pizza Hut. While there, the club members discussed the goals of the upcoming year. Their primary goal was to establish regular meetings and set up fundraisers. Their most successful money-making project was selling Gummi Bears, a school favorite.

Due to their success in raising funds, the members go on field trips - touring California and having a German-style Christmas at the Old Heidelberg restaurant here in Las Vegas. Connie Gellert states, "We get a chance to go out and enjoy ourselves while we learn about the German cultures."

Learning about the history, culture, customs, and language of the people in German speaking countries is what the German Club is all about. To join the German Club, you must have been given the vote by at least two members who have been in the German Club for two or more years and you

Two lucky members of the German Club received scholarships from the Federal Republic of Germany. Out of 350 students; five were chosen from Nevada, two of which were elected from our school: Nicholas Haley and Kevin Prewitt. These two winners will go to Washington D.C. with the other three victors from Nevada to select the semi-finalist from each state. On the 18th of February the two semi-finalists will be given interviews to qualify for the scholarship. These winners will receive a free one year stay in Germany for the whole family. To be capable to stay in West Germany, they will have to fly off to Washington D.C. to take a course in American History. They will then leave for West Germany to meet with the Dignitaries. After all the necessary arrangements the fun can begin. A round of applause to Nicholas Haley and Kevin Prewitt.

CAVE CRAWLERS ■ ■ ■

The Cave Crawlers are very adventurous. It's a great opportunity for students to learn new skills and basic essentials to live off the mountains.

Some of the caves they go to are high on a mountain so they need to know how to get to it and how to come back down. The most outstanding trip that all the crawlers are waiting for is Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico. Carlsbad Caverns is the biggest cave in the United States. This event takes place at the end of the year.

Some other places they plan on visiting are Mitchell Caverns and Desert Cave. The deepest cave the crawl-

John Hines is waiting for the master serve.

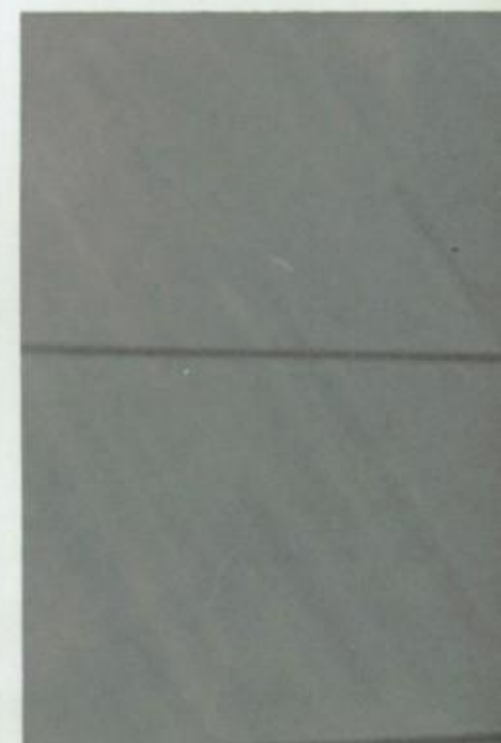

The Cave Crawlers have been very busy this year selling loads of candy for their end of the year trip. They are very much looking forward to going on a trip to Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico.

ers have hiked into is 300 feet. Caves are usually found in valleys or in little hill sides. The best caves are in limestone mountains.

This school year the EHS Cave Crawlers have been to many places, North Umerlend, (near Tonapah), Arizona Strip, and Pishqua Crater, California. At Pishqua Crater, there are lava tube caves. The cave crawlers took a rapelling training course at Red Rock Canyon. This betters their ability to climb mountains.

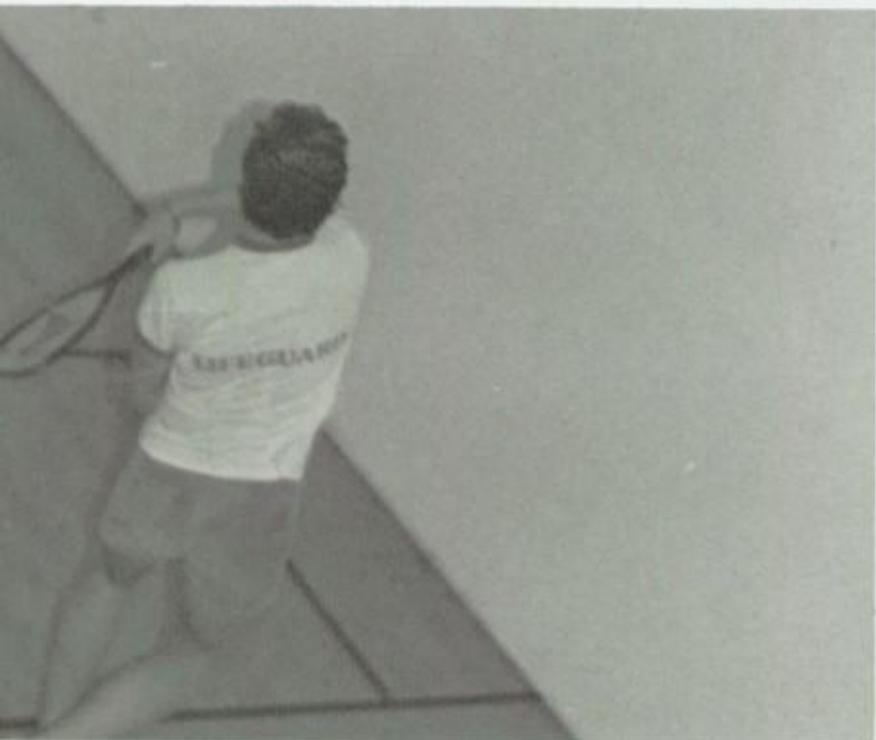

The average time spent on a trip is two to three days. When they go on over-nighters, they take a cave pack with them. This pack has a gas mask. It also has all the basic essentials that someone would need to survive. Some of the things it consists of includes: candles, little snacks for energy, and other basic essentials. Limiting the number of items in the cave packs helps the Cave Crawlers learn to survive in the wilderness on just the "bare" essentials.

NOT JUST ANOTHER ORGANIZATION

There are many opinions formed about ROTC, and some people just take it to get out of P.E. but I'm sure that it's much more than they bargain for. Talking with Commander Thomas, I was enlightened as to what really happens in ROTC. In this course since it is Naval JROTC, students learn naval science, government, crime and justice, geography and current events are talked about every day. One thing that is taught is responsibility. "The main purpose," said the commander, "is to teach high school students to become responsible citizens." Also to teach them to think about more than just themselves, but to help and serve others. Each cadet is given as much responsibility as they can handle.

One cadet, Candis Young, who is the Supply Officer, "has one of the more responsible jobs," says Commander. Candis explains her job. "I issue uniforms, keep files, keep an orderly room. Sometimes it gets hectic and very busy like the first week, handing out uniforms." Everything is written in a log so records can be kept. "I have five staff members to help run things and I hold inspections. It's a smooth running job once it gets going. My staff helps me a lot; they're dependable and reliable people and we get the job done." Right now Candis and her staff are getting ready for an inspection by the Navy. Every January the Navy comes and inspects everything for the last three years they've been one of the top three schools.

So far this year Eldorado's ROTC has won Honor Unit, out of 240 schools nation wide 40 are chosen as the top in the nation as a result they receive a special banner and Mr. Paulen is able to nominate students for Westpoint, Annapolis and Minnesota. They're already beat Rancho in a drill meet and they'll go to California twice this year. Individually cadets can receive awards and ribbons, ROTC is its own military structure, students are promoted and receive honors.

They are bigger than every this year, 200 students, this is 50% bigger than last year and they're expecting to get bigger.

As Commander Thomas says, "We're just another organization."

Mr. Beckstead, instructor, spends much of his own time with his musically talented pupils, teaching basic and advanced skills to broaden their abilities. The Varsity Band performs at various school functions, including concerts and football and basketball games. At Festival, an annual competition, the Varsity Band does quite well. Marva Banks, Junior stated that, "Participating in band is a neat way to spend my spare time." The band practices not only in class each day, but also for two hours each Wednesday during "Marching Season". The endless hours of practice pay off as the Varsity Band continues to keep up the tradition of excellence they have worked so hard to earn.

James Ward and Matt Wiltson give it all they've got as they blow on their trumpets at the Spirit Assembly.

EHS BAND MARCHES ON

The Eldorado Sundevil band had many performances and competitions on their agenda. To start off the year the band performed at The Open House. The next big event was The Half Time Show Review which took place at Sam Boyds Silver Bowl. This performance was a competition between all the schools of Clark County.

Throughout the football season, the Sundevil Band supported the Varsity football team by playing and marching during half time at all games. The band also played at all the assemblies and pep-rallies. Annually, the Sundevil Band performs for their parents and friends at E.H.S. for their Christmas concert. They also have a spring concert to prepare them for the festival. The festival takes place in March, and is also a competition for participating Bands. Sometimes the Band has the opportunity to travel to California and compete in festivals, there festivals is the last event on the Sundevils agenda. The rest of the year the Band spends working on music and skills of the Director choice.

SOS: A CLASS ACT

Sabrina Holmes is a member of the Sounds of the Sun band. Sabrina is very talented when it comes to singing, dancing, and also the use of a musical instrument.

Sounds of the Sun is a performing group that has many various talents. These talents consist of singing, dancing, and the use of a musical instrument. All the students meet everyday during fifth hour and practice for upcoming performances, sometimes if the work was not completely finished during that hour they have to come after school and work. Sounds of the Sun has performed in a range of different places, including, The Showboat Hotel, various junior highs for the younger students, and of course their home, EHS. Sounds of the Sun has also performed during the Open House and many other occasions throughout the year. We asked one of the Sounds of the Sun members, Mary Danzinger, how it feels to perform in front of a large audience. She replied, "It feels really great, especially when the audience you're entertaining loves and applauds you." As you can see, these SOS members have many great privileges, such as, being able to meet a wide variety of different people and being able to go to various states. In order to gain these privileges, the students have to do a great deal of hard work and they have to be willing to put out a lot of effort. As we watched many of the Sounds of the Sun performances, it seems to be that their hard work does not get in the way of their fun and of their abilities. Who knows, maybe one of the Sounds of the Sun members may be famous for their talent one day.

JAZZ CHOIR SINGS TO PHILADELPHIA

The Eldorado Jazz Choir has had an extraordinary year. They represented the state of Nevada at the Bicentennial Celebration of the Constitution in Philadelphia during the summer of 1987. Their first concert was sung as they flew cross-country on their way to Philadelphia. They will fly to New York City in the summer of 1988 to sing in Lincoln Center and Carnegie Hall. Their hectic schedule was full of performances all around the Las Vegas area.

In addition to performances, the choir received Superior ratings at festivals in Nevada as well as in California. They have also sung for the Vietnam Veterans' Memorial Ceremony and for other numerous patriotic and community functions.

The Ladies' and Men's Choirs both received trophies and superior ratings at District and California festivals in 1987. Under the direction of Dr. Jensen, they will continue their spectacular performances in the years to come.

TALENTED DANCERS

Remember that talented group of dancers who performed at the special half-time show? Well, those girls were members of the Eldorado Drill Team (Sundancers). The Sundancers dedicate themselves to promoting school spirit at pep assemblies and football games. Under the direction of Ms. Averett, these girls perform their dance routines with a special pride and self-confidence.

What do these girls feel about their participation in the Sundancer Drill Team? Well, I interviewed some members. Yoon Choi (Sophomore) enjoys the benefits of exercise, weight maintenance, and an easy grade. She also loves to dance. Yoon thinks that practicing early in the morning and having to see her fair flat are the hardest parts of being a Sundancer.

Anne Kuminecz (Sophomore) believes that being a Sundancer means "putting forth all your effort and talent to make the Sundancer Drill Team the best that it can be. To show school spirit and dedication to the art of dance." When Anne first performed, she held a feeling of accomplishment but she was also filled with a lot of nervousness. The thing she enjoys most about being a Sundancer is performing in front of an audience. "Being able to share with the audience the final product of the long grueling hours spent on the routine," is something she really likes. "The hardest part of being a Sundancer," Anne says, "is being able to practice a routine while putting energy, effort, and style into it even if you're tired or in a bad mood."

Mary Riceoppo Sophomore says that getting up in the morning and the mostly painful practices are the hardest parts of being a Sundancer. She loves to dance. "It's good exercise and it's fun!" When asked how she felt when she first performed, she replied that she was very nervous and exhilarated, but that it was lots of fun. She says that being a Sundancer means "the world!" to her. "It's very important to me."

As you can see, these girls take dancing seriously and they also enjoy what they do. Eldorado is very appreciative of the Sundancer Drill Team. Your efforts and team co-operation show in your performances, Sundancers. Keep up the great work!

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

People often ask, "What is a Sunspot?" Is it one of the dark spots that appear from time to time on the surface of the sun? Is it that area on the beach where you can get that perfect tan? Or is it one of those weird 60's rock groups that your parents used to listen to? The Eldorado Sunspots are a group of dedicated girls who cheer for the wrestlers, as well as keep score and times at the wrestling matches. The Sunspots also accompany the wrestlers on their out of town trips.

When asked why she became a Sunspot, Jessica Clair, Junior, replied, "It was the fun and adventure the other Sunspots told me about. I appreciate wrestling and have school spirit."

"The Teams appreciate what we do. When we cheer they know we're behind them 100%," says Kim Spivey, Junior.

Along with the trips and the fun comes the work. The Sunspots practice approximately one hour per week for matches. In order to prepare for their Open House cheer, they practiced six hours.

It takes a lot of team work and dedication to make the Sunspots a success. When asked how they feel about the wrestlers, Belinda

Nielson, Junior, replied, "One of the wrestlers told us that the Wrestlers and the Sunspots are like brothers and sisters. We're one big happy family. I feel that the wrestlers appreciate what we do, except when we mess up . . . Wrestlers have very short tempers when it comes to winning a match!"

DOING IT RIGHT

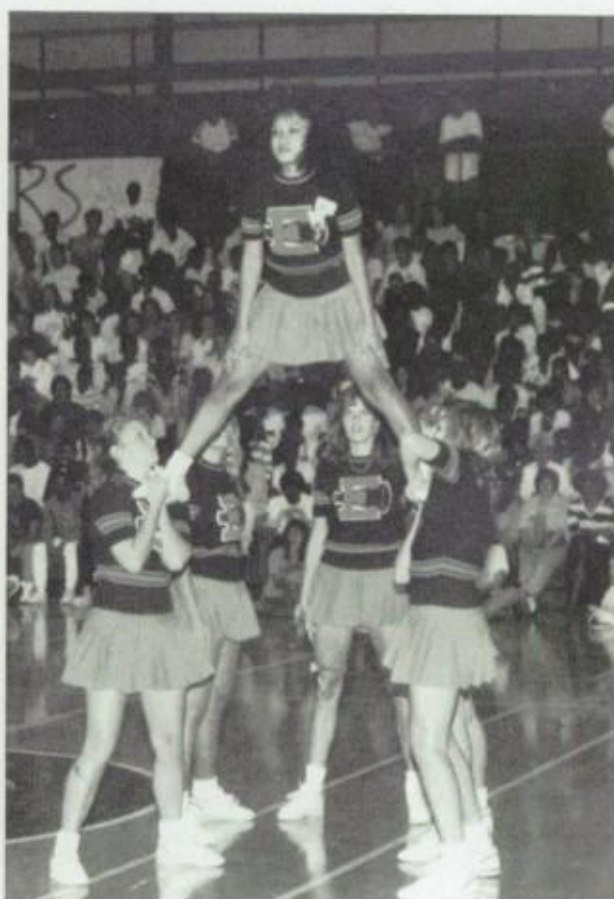

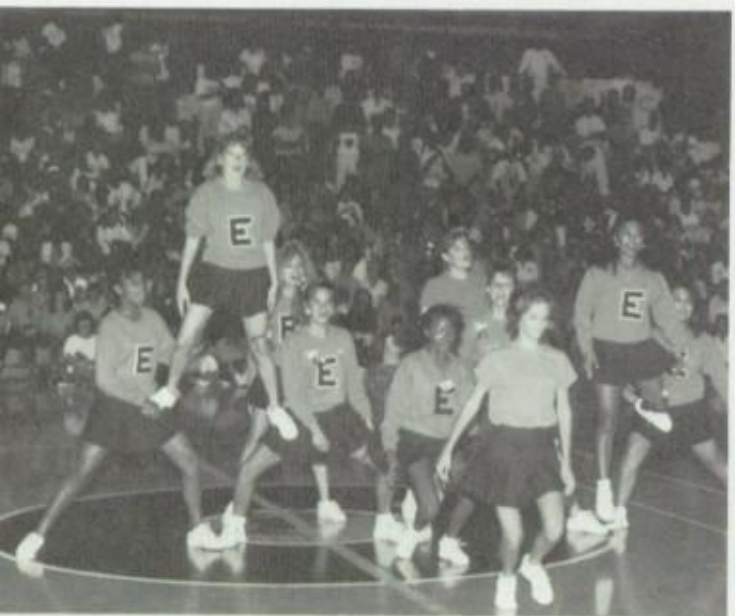

The Junior Varsity and Freshman Cheerleaders, often pushed aside in the limelight, have had a very exciting year. The hard work and dedication demonstrated by both of these squads is evident in their every performance. Breaking the traditional image, the squads have proven that they have true Sundevil Spirit when they cheered their teams to victory.

The Freshman Cheerleaders attended NSA Spirit Camps at Western High School over the summer where they received numerous awards. At the Homecoming Pep Assembly they flawlessly executed an extremely difficult stunt that the entire student body cheered for, including the Seniors.

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders, who attended NCA Spirit Camps in Flagstaff, Arizona, received Superior ratings and brought home the Spirit Stick. After camp they began preparing for Football season and Pep Assemblies. Along with two-hour practices, the squad brought watermelon to their J.V. players during sweltering summer practices.

Both the Junior Varsity and the Freshman squads showed spirit and pride in Eldorado as they were outstanding representatives of Eldorado.

The JV Cheerleaders perform another outstanding cheer at the pep-assembly.

IT'S NOT ALL FUN-N-GAMES

Performing perfect is not as easy as many think. Just ask any Varsity Cheerleader, Yell leader, or Mascot. They have once again merged together to form a unique and multi-talented squad. They attended NCA Spirit Camp in Flagstaff, Arizona in July where they received Superior ratings as well as the Spirit Stick. Shana Hyatt, Senior, was chosen as an All-American Celebrity. The squads long practices pay off when they perform perfectly executed cheers. They not only perform at pep assemblies, but also at Varsity Football and Basketball games. Their endless spirit helps to motivate the teams to victory. They represent Eldorado at both home and away games as they keep the crowd motivated. To them the big pay-off is being appreciated by the teams and by the student body.

THEIR DEDICATION SHOWS

Dedicated and spirited are two words that are often used with good reason to describe our Songleaders. Although we see them at pep assemblies and at every Football and Basketball game, this is just a fraction of the hard work. As a matter of fact, the real work began when most of us were at play during the summer. The Songleaders practiced every day to prepare themselves for the activities that lie ahead.

Their first priority was to prepare for the trip to Flagstaff, Arizona where they attended NCA Spirit Camp. The long hours of practice had definitely paid off. They received Superior ratings on their Home routine, an honor they had certainly earned, as well as bringing home the Spirit Stick. Jin Choi, Junior, was chosen as an All-Ameri-

SPORTING LIFE

There are a variety of sports - volleyball, basketball, softball, the ever popular football, soccer, etc. The list can go on and on. But even so many different sports have a few things in common such as rules, practice, pep talks, injuries, locker room talks, defeat, and victory.

Every game comes with rules and regulations. They are a major part of the game. Without them there would be no game. As for saying "NO! NO! in every game. A broken rule can mean a penalty or a foul, and with one too many it could cost them the game. You can't win a game if you haven't practiced for it. Being out there in the burning energy, taking the heat, the hot grueling sun, beating down on you. While you're dying for something to drink, wearing sweat drenched clothes, or if it's winter, freezing your tail off. All these are symptoms of practice.

A pep talk a game can help win, score, and play. Locker room talk consists of anything between the game itself to what's happening later that night after they win the game. Sprained wrists, pulled muscles, torn cartilages, and broken bones can all result. Even if you win the game, injuries are bound to happen. In fact, it's very uncommon if you go a whole game or match without having at least one injury.

"The agony of defeat," it's a terrible thing. You practice hard all week, try your hardest during the game, gave it all you've got, and you still lost the game. But then you remember "the thrill of victory". The memory gives you that little bit of encouragement which stops you from giving up. You go to practice, work harder, practice longer, try again, and WIN!!

VARSITY TAKES DIVISION

What a year! The Varsity Football team had an excellent season this year. The long hours of practice in the blazing sun in the middle of August paid off when they beat long-time rival Gorman, as well as beating Western in the Homecoming game, a feat that has not been accomplished in many years. By working together as a team the Sundevil Football team managed to capture the Sunrise division title and make it to Zone playoffs.

The team showed true Sundevil Spirit in their never-ending attempts to defend Eldorado's title. Their competitive, aggressive spirit was apparent in every game. We'll be said to lose the Seniors who will be graduating this year, but we'll always remember their constant dedication to the team and to Eldorado as a whole. Every touchdown showed their talent and skill as they made Eldorado #1!

This years Varsity Football team may be losing a few players but what they did this year will inspire and help next years team-players to work harder and do as good if not better than this years Varsity team. So even if they are leaving the school they are still a part of the team and always will be.

Junior Varsity?! Who are they? Oh yeah, they're only second best to the varsity team, right?

Wrong! Better known as J.V. they are a group of spirited and determined young men. Although they may not be as popular as the varsity team, they are outstanding players. They are able to execute their plays with great skill during games as a result of striving hard at practices. Practices paid off and improvements were seen throughout every game. They were tough competitors who managed to keep their respect for themselves and their games. During the games, there was a lot of tension build ups, yet their composure and confidence still remained. They had an attitude which gave them the edge to be a winning team and to prove that they weren't second best to anyone. They also knew that no matter how bad the situation, anything can happen on the field. Their overall season was a great success. They have plenty of potential, strength, and enthusiasm that blows everyone away completely. They also knew that the simple part was getting there and the hardest part is to stay there. The most strongest factor in their game turnouts were due to the players' pride and spirit in being able to represent Eldorado

AMBITION

Those dedicated Freshman were at it again during this season. Our thriving team had a stupendous mixture of challenges and succession. Freshmen players usually dedicate themselves all through high school, determined to become a varsity star. Dreams of winning crucial games with a graceful pass, or running down the field to glory and intaking the applause of the overcrowded stands are in the minds of every hopeful player.

Eldorado has taken pride over the years in coaching the Freshmen team to bring the end result of a victorious and proud varsity team. We encourage and appreciate the Freshmen's ambition and pride.

Two point take down, three point near fall, and a pin. There is a lot more to wrestling than just rolling around the mat. It takes pride, dedication, and long, hard hours of practice to be a good wrestler and a number one team. Here at Eldorado our team is all of these - and more.

We have a few outstanding wrestlers which have helped our team a great deal. Doug Jackson, for example, is one of our nearly undefeated wrestlers. Doug does his best, and his best usually gets the job done right! Another one of our awesome wrestlers is Ken Kurth. Kenny has only lost two matches throughout this season.

Our wrestlers were invited to two out of town tournaments this year.

The first trip they took was during Christmas when they flew to Reno, and, of course, they left with a third place trophy. The second trip our wrestlers took was to St. George, Utah where they brought home a fourth place trophy; Overall, our wrestlers have done an outstanding job, and we owe a great deal of their excellence to their coach, Mr. Jim May.

BEST OF THE BEST

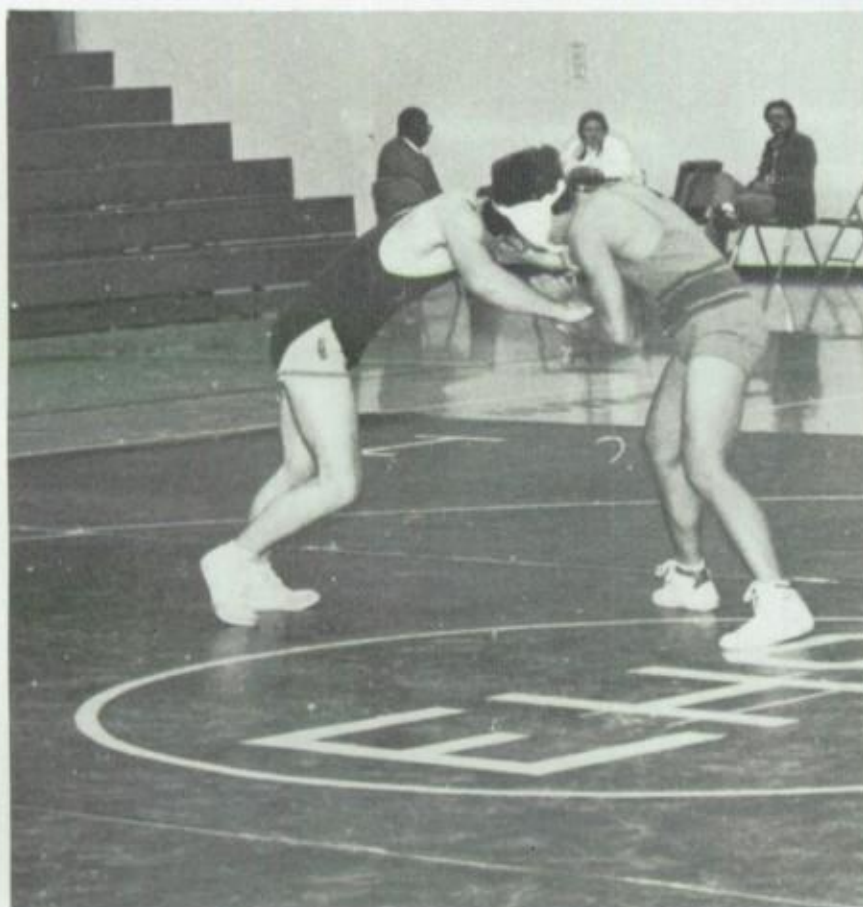

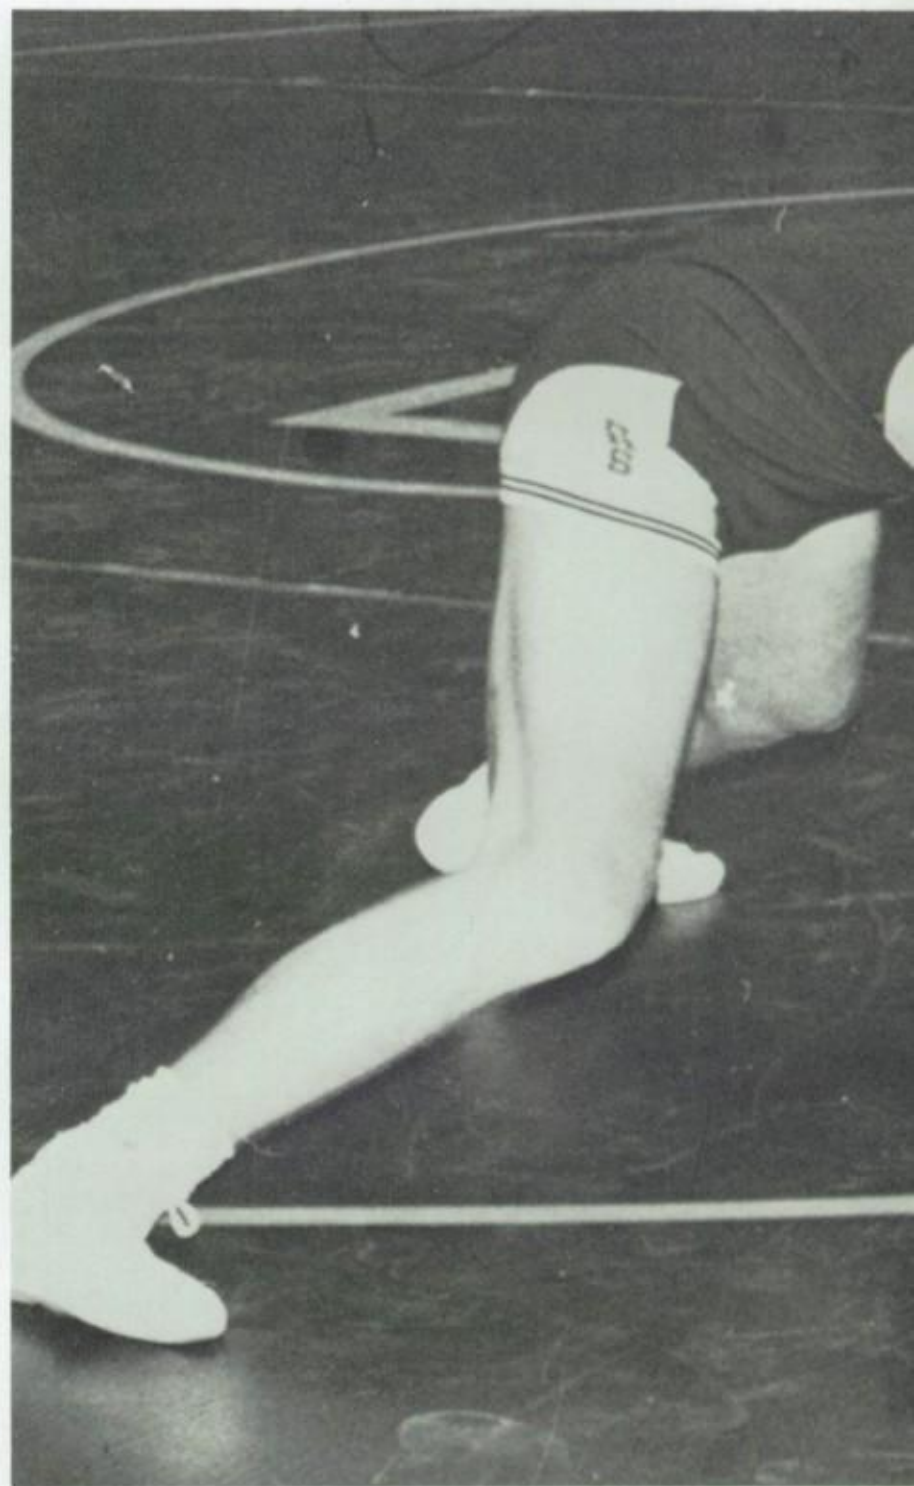

If you were to ask anyone at Eldorado High School who has made some major waves in sports this year, it would be the Junior Varsity Wrestling team! They took 1st place in the Boulder City Invitational, and 2nd place in the Rancho Tournament and Moapa Valley Invitational. They've also beaten four Varsities out of all the schools. Over all, their season this year has been a good one.

The players attitude toward wrestling is that of teamwork. They get along with each other and encourage each other to do their best. Right now we have a good, young group of wrestlers. Most of them are rather new, but we feel they're going to represent the future of wrestling at Eldorado High School.

There is a lot of tension involved in playing in these wrestling matches. With the determination to win, the J.V. Wrestlers usually listen to music to get psyched-up, or just try to stay preoccupied with something for awhile before a vigorous match. The Wrestlers have to practice ten days before they can compete.

Some of J.V.'s outstanding wrestlers this year are Jin Jin Cashimaro-103 pounder, Howie Magawlen-189 pounder and David Frankenburg who's a senior for J.V. this year. The team as a whole is doing a great job overall. When asked what he liked about coaching, J.V. Wrestling Coach Jimmie May said, "I just like watching a kid improve from the beginning of a season to the end, as for taking a young kid that is not well skilled in wrestling and then improved well at the end of the season. Wrestling is the most strenuous sport of all the sports."

VARSITY . . . GETTING THE JOB DONE

Enthusiastically, the crowd cheers as Eldorado makes another point. All of this spirit and support is for the Eldorado Boys' Basketball Team. Our Varsity basketball team is made up of a group of highly skilled individuals who realize that teamwork is the most important part of winning.

When on the court, the players display their true athletic talents. Most people don't realize that many hours of rigorous training must be completed before these results are reached. Basketball practices are extremely difficult. Head Coach Stephens and his assistant coach, Len Czarnecki make sure the players are worked hard so that they can insure a win over their opponents.

The coaching staff is a major part of the Sundevil Varsity Basketball victories. Because of their strategies, the team can outplay their opponents. Another important part of winning is cooperating with each other. If the players thought of just themselves and played with no consideration for the team's benefit, we would have a season of no wins. The players must function together to win, and they do. The team members play with spirit and good sportsmanship.

Rich Lauby, Dana Harris, Dwayne Stephens, Willie Banks, Lester Turner, and Lemarcq Young are Eldorado's best and most outstanding players, according to Coach Stephens. "They've hustled and done a good job," he says of the team as a whole. No specific opponent poses a major problem for the Eldorado team. Coach Stephens commented that every game starts over again and "... Either you do the job or you don't do the job." As long as the team members mature into good citizens, the Coach feels he is doing his job.

JV & B SHOOT TO THE TOP

Flying through the air, the ball swishes into the basket nicely. This has occurred millions of times since Dr. James A. Naismith invented the game of basketball in 1891. Even though a game may only last for a short while, the countless hours of practice are sometimes rewarded with a win. Although it may look fairly easy, that's not necessarily true. It's a matter of opinion, but just ask any of our J.V. or B Basketball team players and they'll tell you otherwise. To be an excellent player, not only must they need to know the basic skills, they must know how to use it to their best advantage. Oh sure, they must've played back in grade school, but here in high school, things are a bit more competitive. They have to work a lot harder and try to perfect their skills. Simply being talented or skillful in basketball does not make a winning team. They must also have good sportsmanlike conduct and also the sense of playing as one whole rather than individually. It's not just one single person who makes the team special, it's all the team members combined that gives them the edge. Our J.V. and B teams have shown us that winning is not necessarily all that counts. They deserve the full recognition for their achievements in the world of basketball. Who knows? Maybe someday one or more of our players will become professional and we can say we knew them. They certainly have the talents and the potential to reach that type of goal. All it takes is the determination and they have definitely proved to us that they possess that factor.

WHO ARE THOSE GIRLS?

Lady Devils. Who are they? These ladies are the hottest Girl's Varsity Basketball team around. They are like one big family. Pride, dedication, and teamwork describe our ladies. They work together to get the job done and they get it done right!

Our ladies have had an outstanding season so far this year. They are at 9-2, and we hope to see them make it all the way.

These awesome ball players went to San Diego, California over Christmas vacation, and, of course, took the tournament. One of these outstanding players, Sherall Bass, who was named the Most Valuable Player at the tournament, has an average of 14 rebounds, and 12 points per game, made it a lot easier for them to do as well as they did.

Mrs. Quinn, the coach of Eldorado's Girls Varsity Basketball Team, says a few words about a couple of her players. "I have my 'Hot Shooter' Sabrina Holmes, I have my 'Big Center' Sherall Bass, and the game wouldn't Click at all without Virginia Green.

SWEEPING THE HOOK SHOT!

On Friday, January 8, the J.V. Basketball team met Rancho. Before the game began, the players anticipated how the upcoming game would result. "I think we're gonna win!" declares Trina Washington. During practices, the Lady Devils displayed self-confidence and enthusiasm. At the sound of the bell ending practice, the players gather around Coach Lazzarotto and Coach Toliver for some last minute instruction.

"1-2-3 Hustle!" the players holler and take their positions out on the floor. The game begins with a fast break from the center jump. The ball constantly changes hands between teams. The exciting first half of the game showed the team's dedication and good shooting skills. One of the team's strongest points is their quickness. Coach Lazzarotto says, "The team's speed has improved a lot over the year." When the team plays, you can see their sportsmanship. As Felicia Lomack states, "The J.V. Girls Basketball team is a close team, togetherness is what makes the team work."

Back on the court, the score is tied at 30-30 and the crowd is anxious to see who will break the tie. Trina Washington, who's sitting on the sidelines, provides her team mates on the court with some encouragement by cheering, "Come on Lady Devils, we can do it!" The tie is broken by Rancho when half time is called with a score of 40-48. The players quickly pile into the locker room for new plays and helpful pointers from their coaches. Coach Lazzarotto shows them the ways to improve and get around the opposing team's defense. "We're taking good shots, but we've got to get pick-up," he advises. After they've received final instructions, Coach Toliver gave them a pep talk and ended it by saying, "You're gonna have to struggle to win!" With that in mind, the Lady Devils jogged out onto the court. Just then someone yelled, "Let's give it all we've got, no matter what happens."

Coach Lazzarato, Coach Tolliver, Trina Washington and Felicia Lomack root on our Lady Devils as they watch the game intently from the sidelines.

VARSITY PLAYS ON

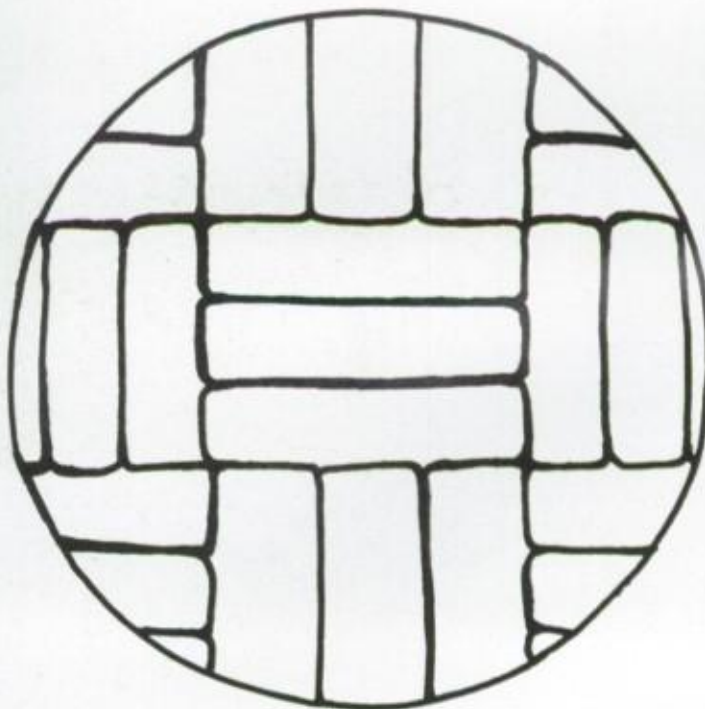

The Varsity Volleyball team, headed by Coach Quinn, was a very strong and determined group of girls. They give it their all during every game. It's amazing that these talented girls can practice long and hard, day after day, and yet they still have fun in the process. They seem to make playing volleyball look so easy and fun, but on the contrary, it's a lot of work. They also learn good sportsmanship and what it's like to be on a team and to work together. They're not afraid to show their masculine side during a game, even if it means risking injury. Their skills are certainly proven in their matches, plus their hard work pays off. Win or lose, they will always cheer on one another and show plenty of support. That just goes to say, that they are a very dedicated team.

COMPETITIVENESS . . .

THAT'S THEIR EDGE

Competition is an everyday way of life. People are competing with different things for many different reasons. But the competition we're talking about, is the competition between teams and even your own team-mates. It's a way of life.

Cross Country is a very competitive sport. This sport deals with very good athletic ability, hard training, good coaches, and self discipline. Our Eldorado Cross Country Team is a hard working team that trains six days a week. Their average mile of running, and sprinting a day equals as much as 13 miles a day. The runners trek in many various places, such as Sunrise Mountain, Bonanza Road, The Silver Bowl, and The Sand Dunes.

This years Cross Country Team consists of approximately 45 runners. These runners are as good as they are and train as hard as they do because of the direction given to them by Coach Richardson. The discipline is mainly self reliance, because it's up to them. Their successful record is due to their desire to be the best. Our runners work hard together, there's no doubt about that, but there's also individual competition. That's the edge our Cross Country Team possesses-competition.

BOYS AND GIRLS TRACK

In girls/boys track and field, there are many activities involved. In the track area: long distance run, short distance run, hurdles, relays and sprints. In the field events there are triple jumps, single jumps, shot put, discus and boys pole vault.

This years highlight of the season will be zone and State Chmpionships. Kris Cole says "Track gives me the opportunity to stay in shape while I can still develop many new friendships. There is a certain bond between you and your teammates. It is like you develop a certain closeness that no other friendship can have. I love the feel of the excitement when I step on the starting line before a race."

Coach O'Dea enjoys teaching track. He says, "They are all such nice kids and they each have an individual character."

J.V. SOCCER . . .

SCORE THAT GOAL . . .

Where did you say that ball was?

This years Junior Varsity Soccer team is full of young future varsity players. Even though they lacked some of the basic game skills at the beginning of the season, they soon developed them throughout the year. These teammates have also learned to have a good general attitude towards the game as well as for one another. Coach Clark loves sports and it shows in his interest to teach young players the skills needed to be competitive soccer players. According to the coaching staff, this years J.V. Soccer players have shown themselves to be good prospects for the 1988-89 soccer season. However, all the coaches feel that some of their Junior Varsity players haven't shown all of their natural ability, but that they are still working on it.

Coach Clark and his staff know they will have a good team next year and these players will be learning a lot more to become a better soccer team. However, they are always looking for good soccer talent and expect a lot of new players coming to Eldorado next year. Coach Clark feels a soccer player must be a bit brighter than any other sports player when they are on the field because of the nature of the sport, but hopes more people will show an interest in playing. A lot of people have the talent but they just don't know it yet and Coach Clark wants to show them they do have it. "So good luck boys, we'll see ya next year."

SMASHING SERVES

The Mens' Tennis team has definitely had a season filled with 'the thrill of victory' and 'the agony of defeat'. But throughout every match they've had fun. They've also showed a great deal of respect for one another and for their Coach, Mrs. Barry.

So, when the question "How do you think you've done, personally?" came up . . . Mark Krempel stated, "Pretty good, but I need to work on my self-confidence."

"What type of mental attitude do you have?" Tony Woo answered, "I just want to play so that way if I don't win it's no big deal."

"What did you like best about playing tennis?" Tony Woo, "Getting to know everyone on the team." Mark Krempel, "I had fun doing it." And last but not least . . . "How do you think the team did?" To sum it all up, Waiman Law, "We did alot better than the past few years, but we didn't do very well."

So, all in all, whether it be a win or loss their attitudes have not been affected. Once again, they'll be out there next year doing what they always do . . . giving it their best shot or is that their best serve?!

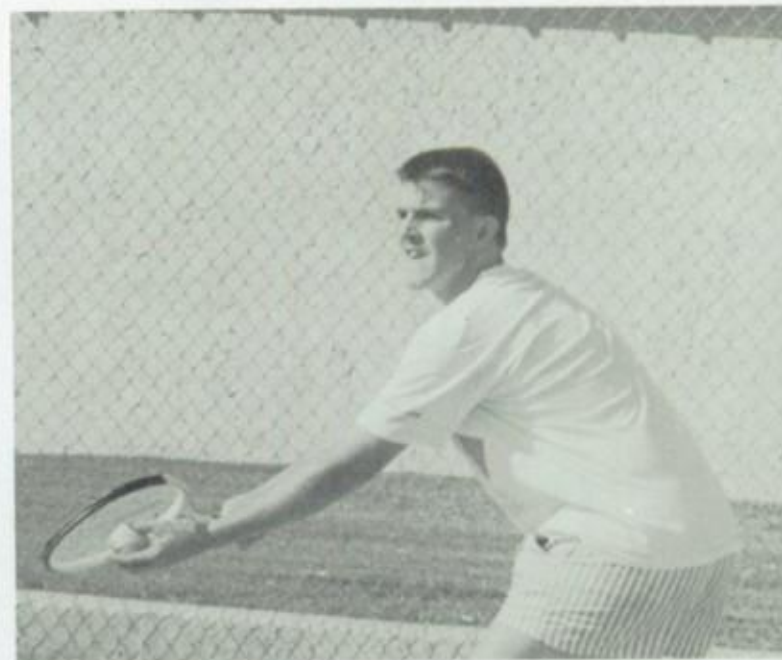

But Eldorado is still proud of its Men's Tennis team. Keep it up guys and better luck next year.

Tony Woo is ready for action.

VARSITY AND JUNIOR VARSITY BASEBALL

The Junior Varsity Baseball team has a lot of young potential players this year. Coach Farnsworth and the J.V. Coaching staff are working with these young players, and teaching them the skills needed to become Varsity Baseball athletes. The entire coaching staff feel that this will be one of there best winning seasons ever, because of all the talent that these J.V. teammates are showing. Baseball is a sport that takes a lot of training, good reflexes, and a lot of hussel. And unlike any other sport, baseball also takes a lot of practice and effort. Eldorado usually has an excellent baseball team throughout the years and they want this to happen again this season. That is why the baseball team members and the coaching staff are working extra hard to keep this happening and to have an even better team this year and all the baseball years to come.

JOB WELL DONE!

Mr. Levins, who coaches J.V. Softball, has put his effort and skill into making his Eldorado High School softball team a great success this year. Three goals seemed to motivate the players this season. The first was to have fun, the second was to improve each individual's skills and knowledge of the game to the point where they would make a positive contribution at the J.V. level next season. The last of course, was to WIN!

J.V. Softball uses a softball (which is larger than a baseball) that is pitched underhand. All the rules of baseball apply. It is a vigorous sport that requires consistent pitching and hitting. If you are good at doing any one of these skills, then there should be no problem in having a winning team!

The attitude of our Eldorado team is to go out on the playing field and give it all they've got ... and of course teamwork. There is no criticism what-so-ever among the J.V. players. If one of the teammates is having a bad day on the field, the coach and players encourage the teammates to "shake it off" and keep trying. Mr. Levins stated that the most important part of playing softball is the players working together as a team and everyone supporting and encouraging each other. Just a little thing as saying, "good job" or "That pitch was great" can make a person feel good and show great determination and ambition on the field.

"The best part of coaching softball", says Mr. Levins, "is watching the kids improve. In the beginning of the season there was a lot of raw talent that has now developed into skillful playing." Overall, the team has worked very hard.

The J.V. Softball team started practicing six weeks before the competition started. They worked on their playing skills and physical condition to make sure they had a good year.

At the end of the season they will know the Glory of Winning a game and cope with the disappointment of losing a game. But you better believe they'll be at the next game (win or lose) to give it their all when the umpire yells "Play ball!"

Ben Jurgens attempts to catch a ball at one of the softball practices.

Well, someones gotta catch the ball sooner or later.

"I got it!", yells Cathy Lutey.

A DRIVING FORCE

Eldorado's golf team can be described as a young improving team. Coach Fitch has worked very hard at improving their skills. Because of their youth, they will definitely have a strong nucleus returning next year led by Robbie Bruce. The team plays and practices at Nellis Air Force Base.

Jeff Bateman follows through on a drive.

Hey! Where did my head go?

"Get outta my way! I'm coming through!" thinks a determined Sundevil.

The Lady Sundevils hustle down court as a Warrior takes a whack at the ball.

GREAT WORK EHS!

Eldorado continued the tradition of good sportsmanship and great athletic abilities this year. Because our team spirit and determination overwhelmed our opponents, those who competed this year deserve credit.

Eldorado always has outstanding wrestlers. Aside from winning State this year, Eldorado was 8-1 in dual meets. 7 JV wrestlers won Zone Championship titles (Lloyd Smith, David Dietrich, Todd Waak, Justin and Jason Garrison, Cam Oliver, Tracy Valvo, Howard McGowan, David Frankenburg, Mike Childress, and Gerald Vargas). Determination, Dedication, and Discipline make up a winning team, says Coach May.

Varsity Football also did a great job. In the past season, the Eldorado football players captured the Sunrise Division title. The Homecoming game was also a great victory. The accomplishments by the team can be credited to the expert coaching staff. All of the support the football players received helped them win.

Girls' Varsity Basketball did extremely well. The team made their way to the State Tournament, proving how skilled Eldorado athletes are. These girls also prove that girls can be great athletes. They deserve special recognition for all the great things they've done for our school and for a job done truly well.

We should be proud of our great competitive teams at Eldorado. They deserve to be congratulated. Eldorado should be proud of the accomplishments, both great and small, made by the Eldorado athletes.

"Ugh!" This wrestler finds himself in an awkward position.

TEACHERS' QURKS

All teachers went to school to learn how to teach kids. Most spent years dreaming of becoming the perfect teacher. As they got older and wiser they convinced themselves that they each were the perfect teacher (yet as every student knows there is no such thing). They developed a variety of different teaching skills. There are many different types of teachers. They are:

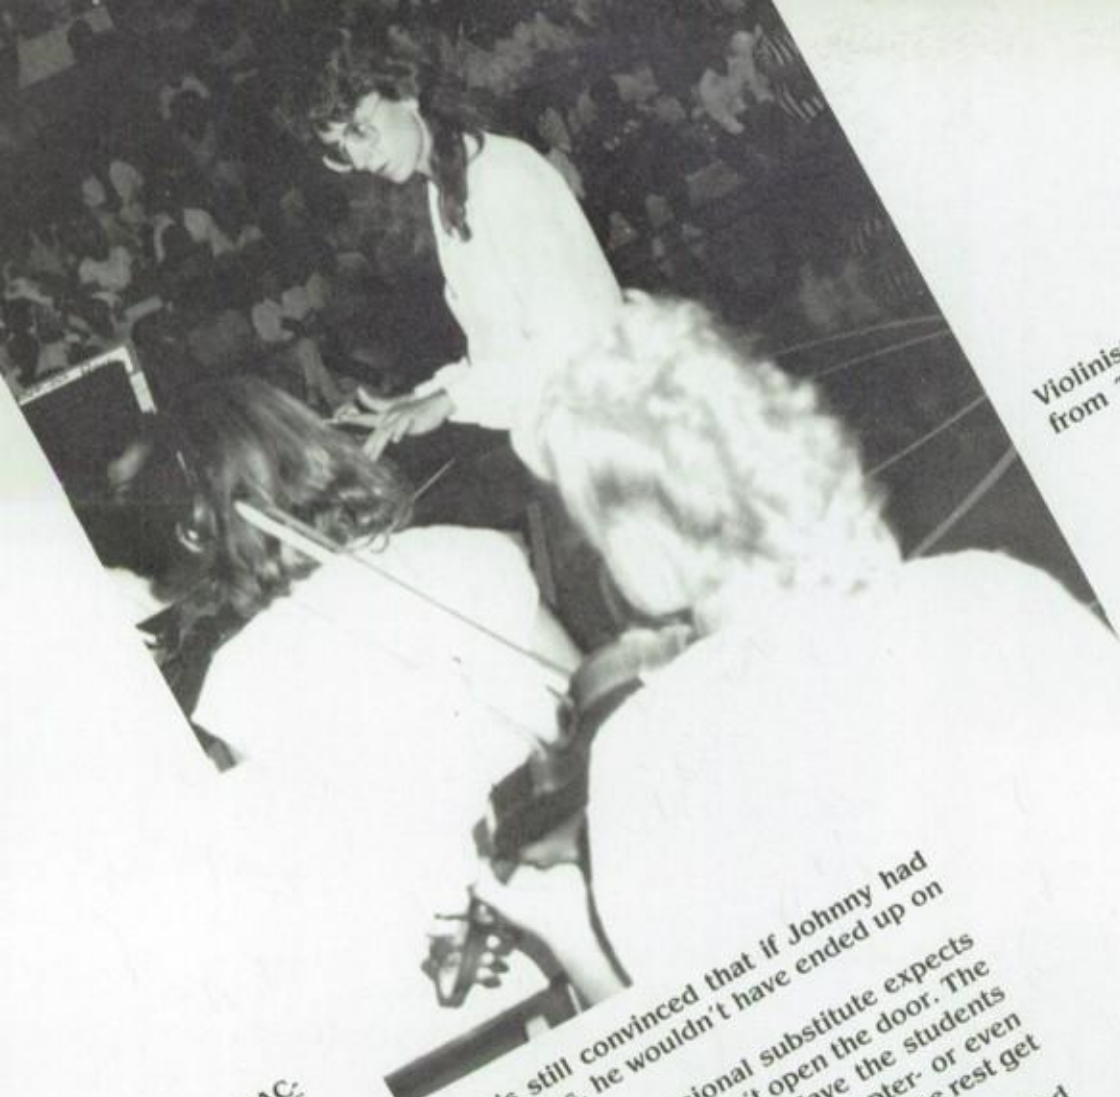

JUST ONE OF THE KIDS Can she help being liked? The Biography of Bruce Springstein really is her favorite book. In English class she likes to make up sentences in which she is the subject and Tom Cruise or Rob Lowe is the object. And when things get a little slow in her class - which isn't very often - she likes to discuss the latest plots on ALL MY CHILDREN or the latest plots in her life, which are even more interesting!

THE DICTATOR A sure sign on the dictator's desk states his philosophy of education: NO LATE PAPERS! He delivers rigid eye contact with the photo of his idol, General Patton, on the back wall. Anyone who raises their hand in the dictator's class is labeled a delinquent. He believes students should be seen and not heard.

THE NERD The nerd asks, "Has anyone seen my glasses?" when he's wearing them. He grades papers with a single check (/), which means "I have looked at this," or a check plus (+), which means "I have looked at this." It is good. Over the years, the Nerd has made an effort to be accepted - like the time he sponsored various club's such as the school's bowling team but gave it up because he dropped a ball on his foot and broke four of his toes.

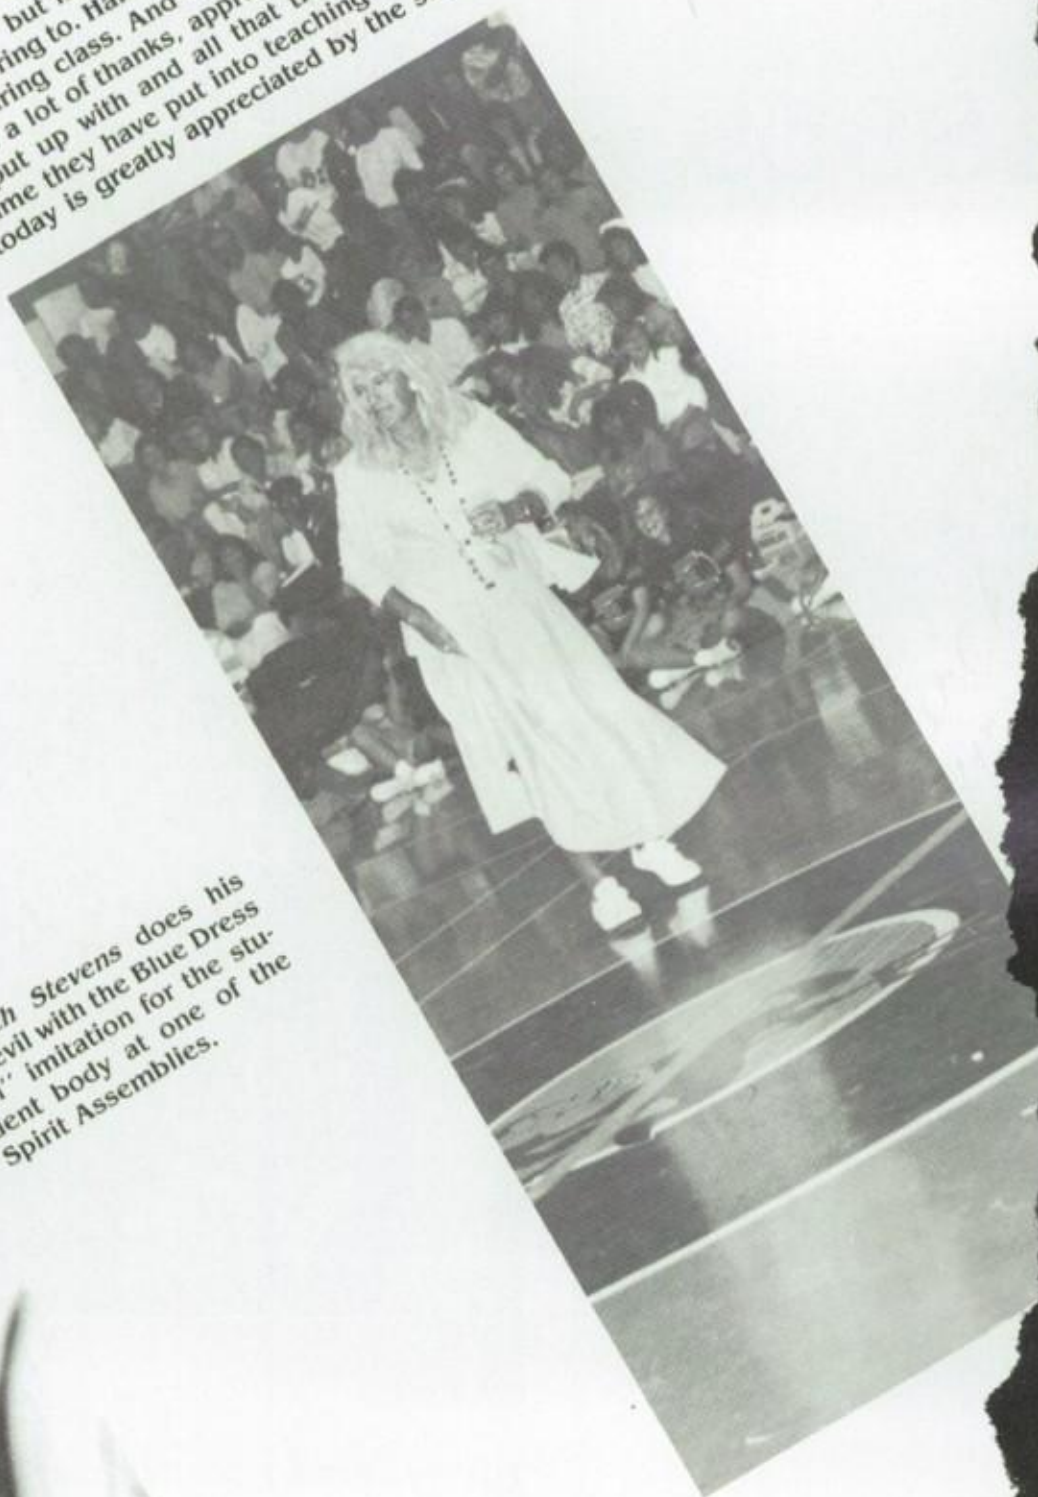

THE MOM You can tell a mom by her sensible shoes and rumpled sweaters. She exudes warmth but also inspires awe; without asking she knows exactly who launched the spitball or chalked MAC-BETH USED SPOT REMOVER on the chalk board. But the Mom has endless faith in all her "kids" and is still convinced that if Johnny had spent just one more semester in her class, he wouldn't have ended up on the FBI's ten most wanted list. THE PROFESSIONAL SUBSTITUTE The professional substitute expects the worst and is seldom disappointed. His key doesn't open the door. The teacher he's subbing for leaves instructions saying, "Have the students read the next chapter," but no one has any idea which chapter- or even which book she's referring to. Half the students wander in late; the rest get "food poisoning" during class. And that's just first period ... Teachers deserve a lot of thanks, appreciation, and should be admired for all that they put up with and all that they do for students. All the dedication and time they have put into teaching and forming us into the people we are today is greatly appreciated by the students at Eldorado. THANKS

Webster's defines the word "Mathematics" to mean, "The study of the relationships between objects, shapes, quantities, and numbers, organized so that certain facts can be proven or gathered from others by using logic." The Eldorado Math Department is staffed by teachers who are devoted to helping students further their education in the perplexing subject. The teachers are always willing to help students muddle through the trials and tribulations of learning formulas, theorems, and reading graphs. Their endless amounts of patience and support are greatly appreciated by the students.

Perfecting

the Arts

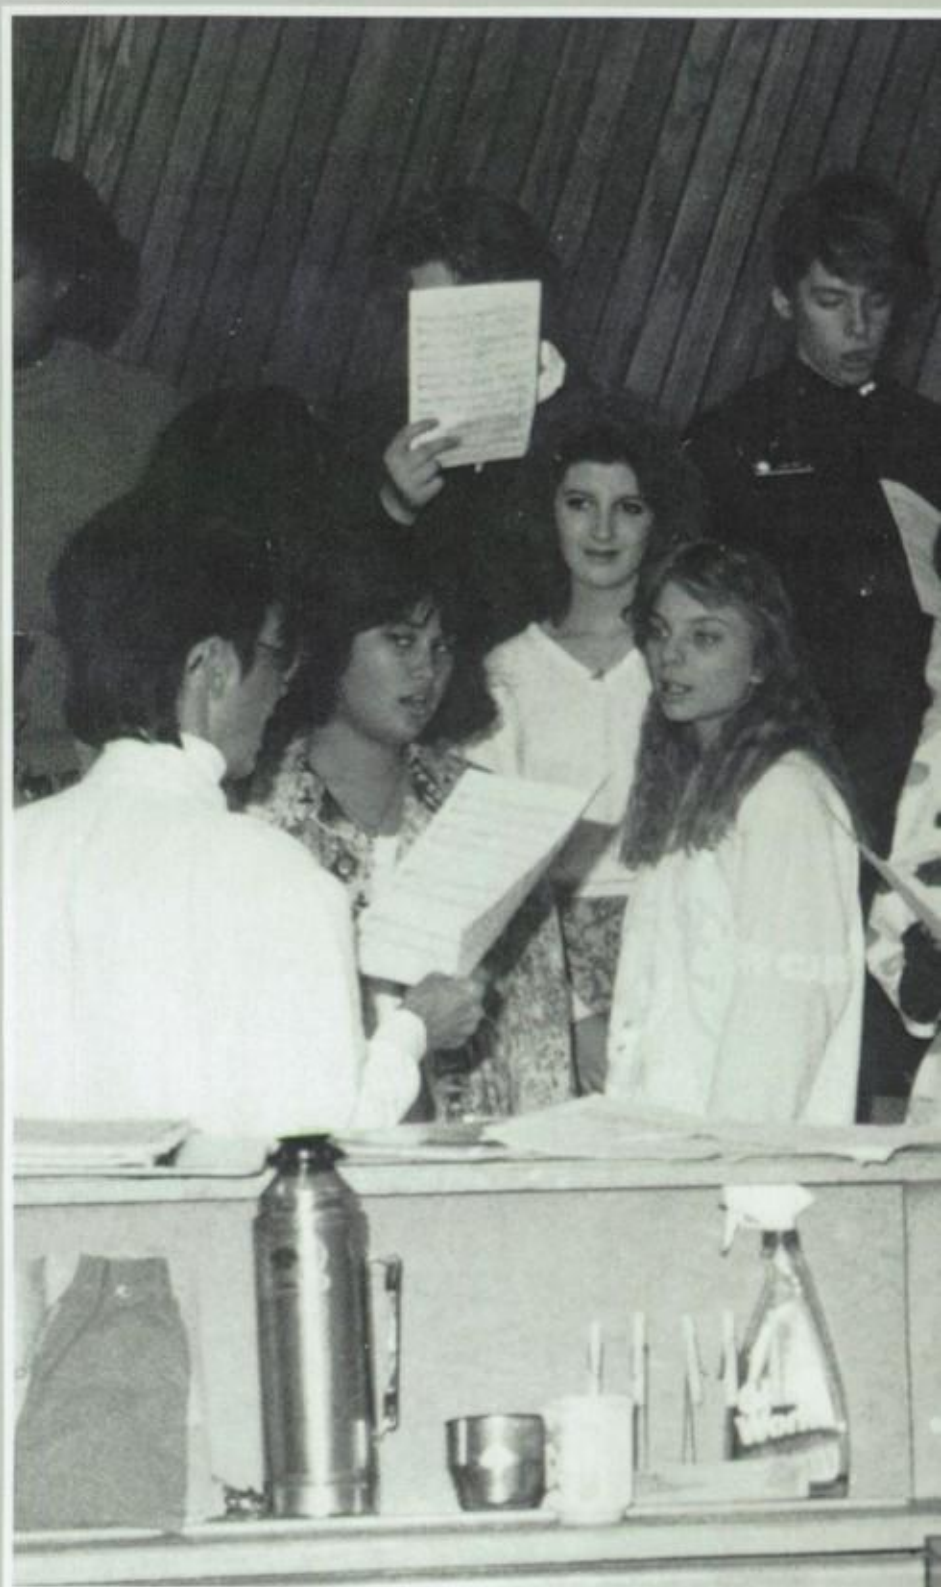

The Performing Arts Department is a major part of the Eldorado curriculum. Our Theatre, Band, Choir, and Art classes have outstanding reputations. Students involved in these classes are extremely dedicated to their art, as is evident in the endless hours spent rehearsing. With teachers such as Ms. Emmett (Theatre), Dr. Jensen (Choir), Mr. Jensen (Art), and Mr. Beckstead (Band), students receive a priceless education from these talented individuals. Sacrifices are daily occurrences in this department, but the end result, spectacular performances, is all worth it.

A Trade

Vicki Greene picks up practical skills in Business while working in the cafeteria during second lunch.

The vocational classes offer students the opportunity to learn and practice vocational skills which could help them both obtain and work in jobs after high school.

The vocational classes that are offered include photography, drafting, woods, metals, and foods. With this variety of choices in which students interested in vocational careers can choose, Eldorado satisfies the majority of the students interests.

The photography classes improve your ability to be selfreliant. Another advantage is that Photos II, III & IV can hold V.I.C.A. club meetings during class time. During these meetings, the photography students improve their skills by planning for the annual V.I.C.A. contest.

The vocational classes are an important part of the curriculum. Eldorado students are at an advantage since many of these classes are not offered at other schools. This advantage will help students in the future job market.

SENIOR... LIFE

Those OUTRAGEOUS seniors get rowdy and a little crazy, but definitely love to show their OUTRAGEOUS school spirit!

It's October 14th, the day underclassmen dream about. In room 144 representatives from Autrey Brothers arrived to talk to Seniors about their Senior items, such as announcements, tassels and Senior Memory Books. Upperclassmen sat teary-eyed while watching a graduation movie. They pre-viewed all of the merchandise they had to choose from. You heard from all the mouths, "I'm buying everything."

Two days later Autrey Brothers came back. The Seniors returned to room 144 with anxious faces waving money to order their caps and gowns and other Senior memorabilia. Some ordered class rings and were fitted for their graduation caps. After all of the ordering the happy Seniors wandered slowly back to class carrying their tassels and memory books ready to be filled with all of the wonderful and touching moments past and soon to come. The feeling of being a Senior finally arrived.

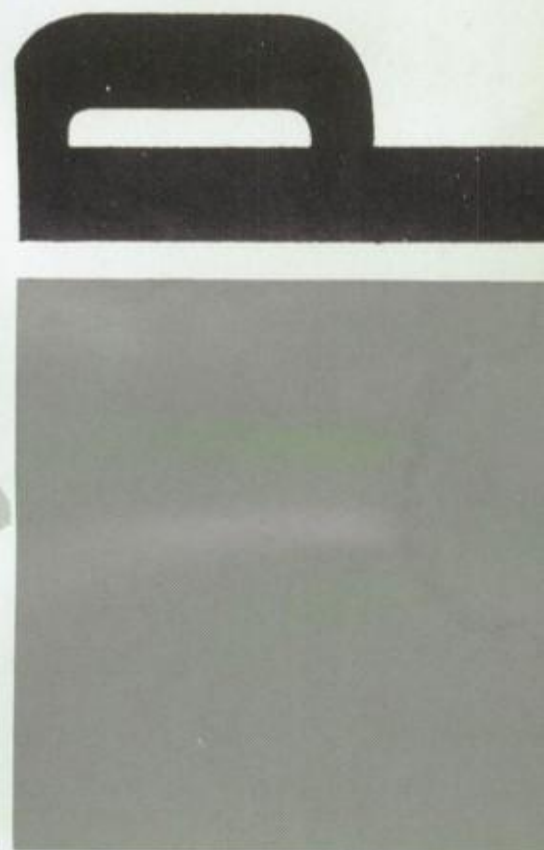

At the end of the first semester Seniors start to drag their text books home and read them from cover to cover, trying to consume every bit of information on one page. Everyone receiving results of their College Entrance Exams and finals from their four to six classes (a privilege Seniors still have). Adding all of the excitement of just being a Senior.

Football games, assemblies, Homecoming, Senior Prom, and school spirit are all a part of Senior life. Those are some special activities you never forget throughout your Senior year. That first step towards them is exciting but your last step is the best, GRADUATION!

Michelle Digregorio, really showed her school spirit by cheering out "We're buff!"

SENIORITIS... WATCH OUT! YOU'LL CATCH IT!

Senioritis. It comes in many different sizes, shapes, and forms. It is a contagious disease that everyone catches as soon as they become an upperclass Senior. There's no real specific definition for it, just a bunch of awesome and fun symptoms that all Seniors get sooner or later.

A Senior is the first overcome by feelings to do a lot of OUTRAGEOUS things. The first sign and probably the most popular one is saying, "I'm a Senior, so I'm excused!" Then it slowly but steadily progresses. Below are a few of the symptoms:

1. Ditching and throwing Senior Ditch Parties!
2. Having no mode of transportation when their cars break down.
3. Getting laughed at by the Underclassmen for riding the cheesewagon.
4. Being tardy to every class, every day.
5. Sleeping in and being late for school.
6. Acting like an Underclassman because they've earned that right.
7. Cutting in line.
8. Being privileged enough to roam the halls.
9. Having the urge to scrawl '88 all over the place.
10. Initiating the Underclassmen.
11. Getting what they want, when they want.
12. Getting off with bogus excuses.

Don't panic. There is a known cure for Senioritis. Graduation!!!

So before you go into a state of nervousness and give yourself an ulcer, take a few breathers and relax. Before you know it, you'll be out of high school and be totally cured. Then you'll wish you were back and could contract the contagious 'Senioritis Disease' all over again!

BEING A SENIOR

Being a senior. What does that mean, that you have finished twelve years of school and now you can do what you want? Or, does it mean that instead of knowing exactly what you will be doing year after year, going to school and trying to pass, you will now have to make all of your own choices. No, those years are over and it won't be that way anymore. All the friends that you have met this year or gone to school with since first grade will all be going their separate ways and many of them not seen for awhile. Instead of high school teachers to remind you of your assignments, you will be doing your best in the working world or the expectations of your college professor. Whichever direction you choose it will never be the same as the carefree years of being a teenager.

Although you will finish high school and go on, the memories of being little and playing with the kids down the street, your first day of school, your first crush, the beginning of high school, the activities that you were involved in and last, finally realizing that you're almost out of school, will always be yours. Being a senior is just the last step of working for your education, and the first step of learning how to use it.

WHAT WAS YOUR MOST EMBARRASSING MOMENT AT EHS?

I used the girls restroom and didn't even realize that I was in it.

I'll never forget the time when I ran into the bathroom door and fell down.

I was so embarrassed when I was walking down the hall and Eddie Doyle dropped my pants in front of the whole student body.

Security. The word security means the state of being secure. A more literal definition is the state of being free from apprehension, risk, danger, chances, loss, etc. To a Senior, security means high school, more specifically ELDORADO HIGH SCHOOL. EHS is just like one gigantic security blanket, it protects students from the real world. Graduation is the first step to being out on your own—beginning to make your own decisions. In other words, it's making the first major step into the real world and out of the somewhat sheltered world we're all used to. Most Seniors are totally ecstatic about this being their last year as a high school student, but there are a few who are quite skeptical about going out on their own. In school, Seniors didn't have to make any major decisions. Maybe at the time, such things as whom to ask to the Prom seemed like the decision of their life, but actually they're minor compared to some of the questions they will be facing. There are a few who after graduation plan to go directly to college and continue their education. Others plan to wait at least a year before going to college. Still others haven't quite made up their minds about their future and have decided take time off to "evaluate their life." Most Seniors are really confident about leaving high school and home life because they want to try to make it on their own. After graduation, Seniors will leave with only the memories of the close friends and teachers they've been acquainted with over the high school years. It's the end of being called a child. It is all part of growing up, but it's not really an end, it's only the beginning.

The Senior float was outrageous "of course".

The debate—is it Pepsi or Coke?

Karen Ellerson is just her happy self ha ha.

Steve Konst and Kari Pinkham look excitingly at their graduation announcements.

SENIOR LIFE

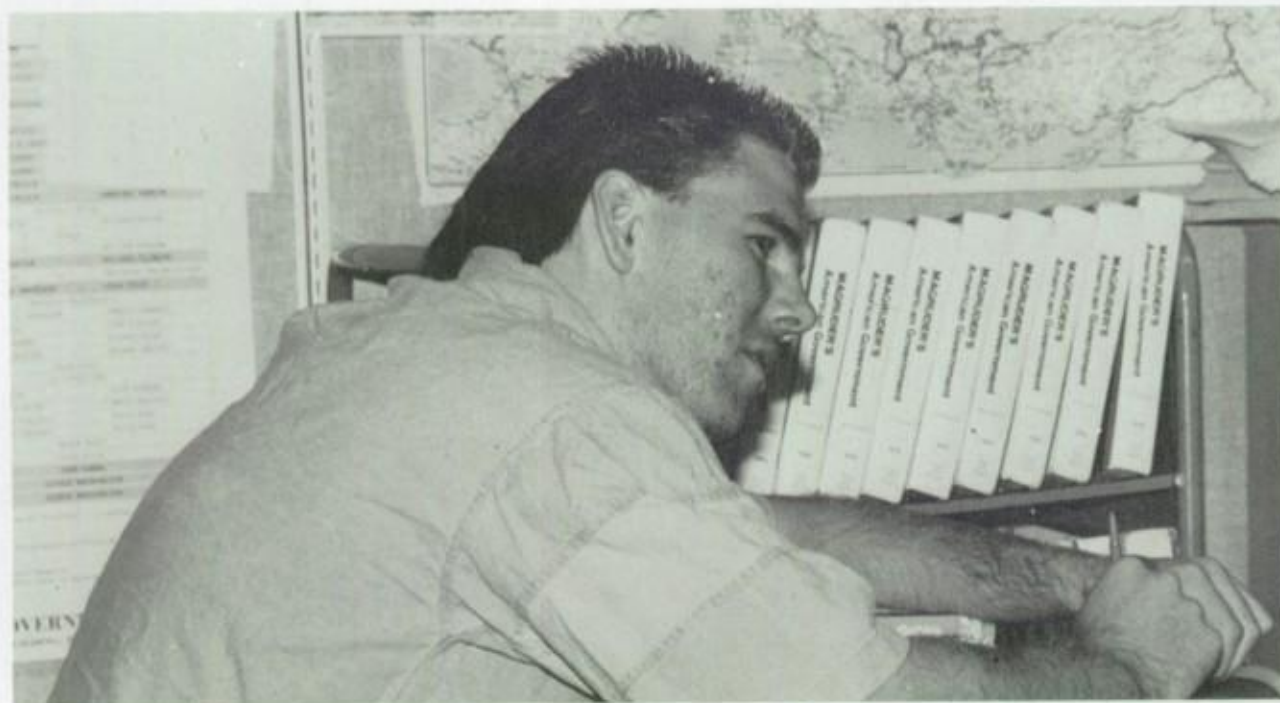

Being a Senior guarantees at least one thin... Senioritis. Symptoms of Senioritis include; the "I'll do it some other time," syndrome; the three and four day weekends; not being able to stand freshman; and counting the weeks, days, and hours until graduation. As someone once said, "Senioritis is a feeling of superiority over all subhuman underclassmen, that wish they were in our shoes."

Your Senior year may not be as cheap as past years have been. Some of the expenses are; Senior pictures, cap and gown, Prom, college applications, car repairs, graduation announcements, and Homecoming Dance. And of course, don't let us forget a Yearbook. It may be expensive, but it's all worth it in the end.

Government classes can be a real problem for some Seniors, but the bad comes with the good, like Senior Ditch Days. One of this years ditch days took place on January 25. Government classes were pretty empty that day!

After finally realizing you have actually made it through 12 years of school, you start thinking about your future. Most plan to go on to college while others may just try to find a job. A few might even get married and some may not want to do nothing at all. The main thing is that you're free and the rest of your decisions are yours to make after your Senior year.

Lynelle Constantine gets her head measured for her graduation cap.

"You mean she turned me down?" sighs Frank Castillo.

"Wow, this book looks interesting," contemplates Deborah Lee.

"I feel like I'm in a time warp," thinks Greg Newton.

Julie Bernat and Joanna Thome are bulk-loading film.

TARGET FOR FUN

What can be said about our underclassmen this year? Simply underclassmen. Once more the yearly pranks, jokes, and rude remarks have taken action. No underclassmen will ever escape from an "underclassmen, look out, frightening and embarrassing experiences happen. For example, "The Scavenger Hunt." The Freshman comes up to a Junior. "Um, excuse me please, can you tell me where room 142 is?" Junior replies, "Yea, room 142 is all the way on the other side of the school to your left." Of course it's only two doors down, but why spoil the fun? So the Freshman goes off thinking that he has some idea where to open their locker, with no luck. "Hey squirt, let me give it a shot," says one Senior. The Freshman steps aside feeling embarrassed, but relieved they're finally getting their locker open. Once the locker is open the Senior starts throwing the books out on the floor. "Hey what are you doing?" asks the Freshman. "Yea, now it's my locker. Got it? Good! But just to show you what a nice guy I am, you can have my old locker. It's the bottom one by the sewing class in the 300's hall." The Freshman, not knowing what to say, picks up his books and walks off, praying the year will go by fast. "Oh yeah, says the Senior, "and if you have any more problems call me. I'll take care of them." See ya squirt." No wonder Freshmen Student Council members prepare the football field for our Homecoming game.

Gail Gilpatrick and Julie Foht visit with Marcie Huebert during the Homecoming game.

Freshmen carry so many books; they're lockerless! Let's not forget the most famous of them all, the "Trash Can Dump." This prank involves being thrown first into a trash can. How will they ever make it to class on time when being stuck in a trash and smelling like stale cheeseburgers and what ever else was in there? Or if they're chosen to be dumped after school there is no problem with transportation class. The problem is being too late for their walking home since the buses have already left. They end up walking home with tons of books and a cheeseburger smell. Finally they reach home safe at last, for the rest of the day at least. As they sit and contemplate dropping out, mom walks in and asks, "How was your first day of high school dear?" Don't worry, the year will go by fast, and sooner or later it will be your turn to have fun instead of being a target for fun.

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT... underclassmen

JUNIORS ■ ■ ■

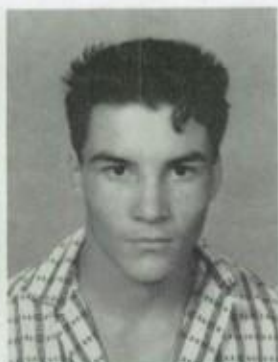

To Juniors, becoming a Senior is the "Ultimate Dream". The class of '89, however, seemed quite content with being Juniors this year. With graduation and college only one year away, the class of '89 had plenty to do. They combined participating in school activities and relentless studying, at the last minute of course, making them one of the most involved classes ever at Eldorado.

Their drive for success allowed them to help boost our Football, Basketball, Wrestling, and Baseball teams to victory as the crowd cheered on. As finals approached, College Entrance Exams and G.P.A.'s suddenly seemed important. Juniors struggled to pass final exams in U.S. History, American Literature, and Chemistry. It all seemed worth it, though, when they realized that the "Ultimate Dream" is just one small step away from becoming a reality.

SOPHOMORES ■ ■ ■

Being a Sophomore is ... "A little better than being a Freshman." Finally, no more being teased about being a Freshman! New classes such as Biology and Health replace Earth Science and World History, which means more studying must be done.

By the time you're a Sophomore you've caught on to the ways of high school. It's easier to become involved in school activities now that you're not so intimidated. Assemblies seem more fun, football games seem mandatory social events, and attending the Homecoming dance is a distinct possibility.

Lunchtime seems more fun as one by one Sophomores get their driver's licenses and cars; eventually omitting the ritual of trying to stomach the cafeteria's food.

As the year winds down, it's time to get serious about grades and the future, but the class of '90 will always remember being "Sensational Sophomores!"

FRESHMEN ■ ■ ■

What does it feel like to be a Freshman? Scary but exciting, fun but embarrassing, uncomfortable but memorable. It has been said that being a Freshman is the worst part of High School. You get picked on by the Upperclassmen, you can't go to Prom, you're always booed at Pep Assemblies, and you're never able to get to class on time the first week of school. But in actuality, it's not as bad as it seems. As a Freshman, you're treated more like an adult. You're responsible for your own actions. Freshman are still at the age where having a job isn't really necessary, so they have a lot more free time than Upperclassmen.

But, there are a lot of downs too. Riding the bus to school is one of the biggest. Since school starts at 7:30 and not at 8:10 like in Junior High, it means they must get up a lot earlier than they are used to. And after school you have to rush out to the bus so that you don't miss it. That means no socializing after sixth period. Also, as a Freshman, staying at school and eating in the Cafeteria is another downer. All of the people that have cars are off to McDonalds and Taco Bell while you're sitting there eating some school food.

So, look at it this way, the year will go by pretty fast. It is much better than Junior High, and you've only got 3 more years until graduation. Have fun while you can.

CLOSING... THE END!

Now that the school year is coming to an end, we look back and remember the events that have occurred. In the past year, we have seen many important national events occur. Probably, the events that we remember the most are those that we experienced together. We think about the good times we shared. We laugh about the embarrassing, funny things that we couldn't laugh about before. Don't you all remember those humorous little incidents?

Remember school lunches? They weren't so bad. At least the stuff didn't move anymore, even if it looked like it would. Remember P.E.? Didn't you enjoy running around, sweaty and half-dead while all the cute members of the opposite sex (who never dressed out) stared at you in disgust? Remember all the times you fell asleep in class. Remember all the cars and trees and pedestrians snoring. Nobody bothered to wake you up until you were tardy for your next class. Remember Huxleys? The lady on the bicycle derailing during the simulator movies? Those were a lot of fun, weren't they? Remember the hallway fights? No one cared if they were late or not, just as long as they had a clear view. Remember all those dingy people who were always lost in their own dreamworld? They'd ask questions like "Where did you get 'x' from?" or "How come ordinary people who aren't in politics get all the good ideas about management?" Who could forget all the worms and frogs and baby sharks that had to be cut up? Remember those really weird people who managed to get themselves locked in the bathrooms? That must be humiliating. Remember freshmen year? Ha, that was a laugh.

As we remember those happy times, we know the year has to end. All good things must come to an end. We must say goodbye to the class of '88. You've all been great, seniors, but this is the end. We thank you for the memories. We'll always remember the good times at Eldorado and look forward to the good times to come.

Shane Peterson and David Maldonado are shocked to find out that school life is ending sooner than they realize.

Corrinne Hibdon and Dora Pettit wave farewell to Eldorado.

Lauralee Whitmore laughs to herself as she remembers the events and memories of the past school year.

The male members of Eldorado's faculty wave goodbye to the crowd at the assembly.

Cathy Hines is absolutely ecstatic as she realizes school is out for summer.

PEOPLE WERE TALKING ABOUT ...

1987-1988 YEAR IN REVIEW

Memorable" is one way to describe 1987. The events that occurred will definitely make its mark in American history. 1987 could even affect the American viewpoint.

The Summit meeting between President Reagan and Mikhail Gorbachev concerning the treaty to ban medium- and short-range nuclear weapons in Europe and Asia was a positive sign towards good foreign relations ... Haiti's first scheduled balloting in 30 years was to take place in 1987. The polling was cancelled because voters were killed by violent mobs ... "Ollie-man" spreads through the United States during the Iran-Contra hearings. President Reagan denied knowledge of what was going on. The Iran-Contra Committee Report, however, stated that responsibility for the events rested with the President ... Supreme Court nominee Richard Bork was rejected because of his judicial philosophies. Douglas Ginsburg was the second nominee for the Supreme Court. His admission to the use of marijuana caused him to lose popularity ... Scandalous affairs with prominent leadership figures seemed to appear suddenly. Donna Rice gained a spark of fame for her involvement to presidential candidate Gary Hart. Jessica Hahn made her affair with PTL evangelist, Jim Bakker, public. Jim and Tammy Bakker, the couple who had gotten rich by donations sent to them, have now lost their PTL empire due to Jim's unfaithfulness ... The spread of AIDS continued across America. This caused people to think about taking preventive measures and to protect themselves against the disease. Many educational programs and commercials that have been produced in the past year provide necessary information ... Beulah Mae Donald sued the Ku Klux Klan because her youngest son, 19-year-old Michael Donald, had been lynched. Members of the Klan had been responsible for his death and had felt no remorse. Two Klan members had been convicted for their crime, but Beulah Mae Donald still filed suit against the Klan. She won and was awarded 7 million dollars ... Lisa Steinburg died in 1987. She was a victim of child abuse. Over a thousand people came to her funeral, most of whom were strangers ...

... 1987 was indeed a year to remember. Conflicting human emotion—happiness, misery, pain, anger—were felt by all. We'll always remember in our hearts and minds, the year that was.

The Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco celebrated its 50th birthday. About 250,000 people jammed onto the bridge for an anniversary walk across the span. Another 500,000 packed the bridge approaches but were denied access because the engineers feared the span could not support the weight.

The Senate rejected President Reagan's nomination of Robert H. Bork to the Supreme Court by a 58-42 vote, which ended a long contentious debate over a judge alternately portrayed as a brilliant jurist and a dangerous extremist.

All but one of the cats in the backstage gathering at the Kintergarden Theater are members of the Broadway musical "Cat." The odd cat out is Morris, the television commercial character, paying a visit to his fellow showbusiness feline cousins.

The Dow Jones Industrial stock average dropped 508 points, the largest in history, on Monday, October 19. Some called it a "crash," others called it a "meltdown" and others called it "Black Monday." Whatever it was, it stripped $500 billion from the market value of U.S. securities.

President and Mrs. Reagan greeted Pope Paul II when he arrived in Miami to begin a nine-city tour of the United States.

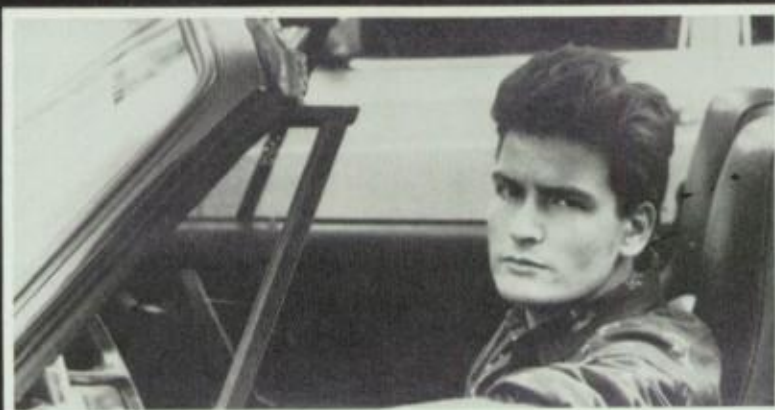

Cybill Shepherd and Bruce Willis are the stars of the hit television series "Moonlighting."

Janet Jackson, who was nominated for nine American Music awards, stands backstage at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles with the crystal award she received for favorite soul and rhythm-and-blues single with her hit "Nasty."

Superstar Michael Jackson in a scene from his three dimensional space fantasy film in which he performs the songs he wrote and produced.

Actor Charlie Sheen shown here in character for his role in the romantic comedy film "Three for the Road."

Superstar Whitney Houston performs at New York's Madison Square Garden in September. It was her first New York appearance since 1985.

George Michael performs in June at the Wembley Arena in London to a sell-out crowd of 75,000.

One of the hottest television shows starred a little furry Alien Life Form — also known as ALF.

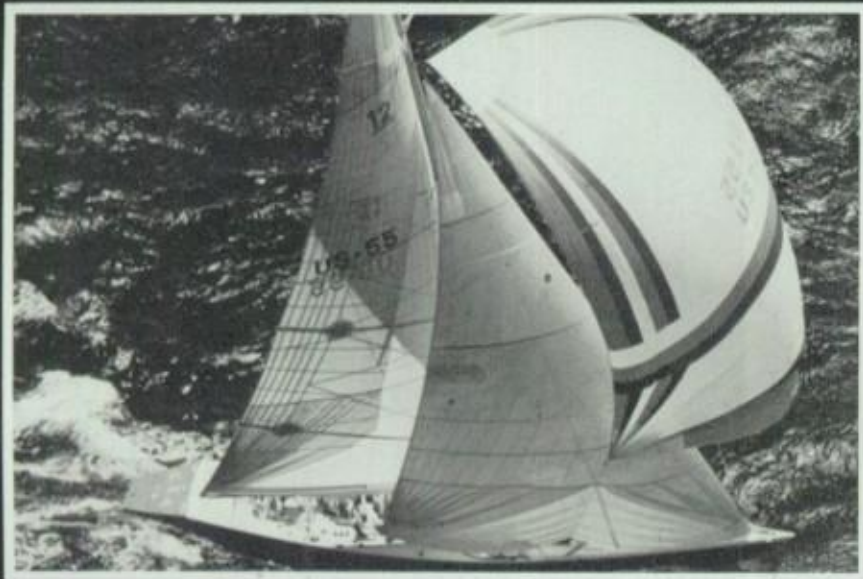

Miss Michigan, Kaye Lani Rae Rafko, a nurse who shook up the talent competition with a polynesian dance, was crowned Miss America 1988.

Actor Tom Cruise poses with his new star on the hollywood walk of fame on Hollywood Blvd. Cruise starred in "Risky Business" and "Top Gun." His latest film was "The Color of Money" with Paul Newman.

Dennis Conner, the man who lost the America's Cup in 1983, won it back four years later. The Stars and Stripes completed a 4-0 sweep over Australia's Kookaburra III in the race that took place in Australia.

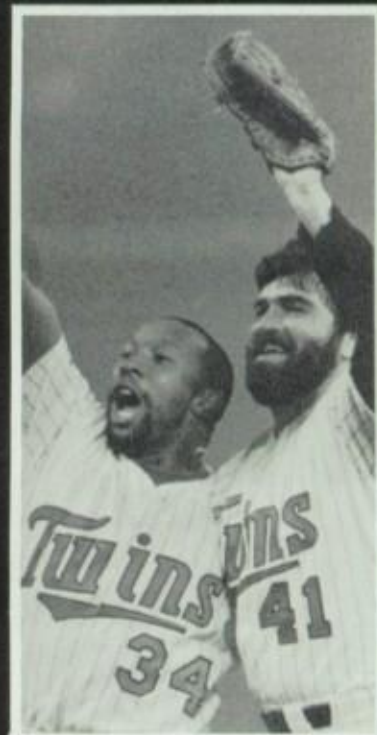

A U.S. Park Service worker scrubs the Lincoln Memorial statue of Abraham Lincoln in Washington D.C. Every five years the memorial gets a complete cleaning, including Abe's hair.

A 24-day strike by the NFL players ended in mid-October when the union capitulated and went to court instead of trying to fight the club owners at the bargaining table.

Democratic presidential candidate Gary Hart was forced to drop his bid for presidency after it was reported he was romantically involved with Donna Rice, a 29-year-old aspiring actress and model from Miami.

In the six years since Americans first heard of a mysterious immunity-robbing disease from which no one recovers, AIDS has killed nearly 25,000 Americans, millions of dollars have poured into medical research and president Reagan has proclaimed the plague "Public Health Enemy No. 1"

Liberace, the glittering showman and pianist who captivated fans for four decades with an inimitable personal and musical style, died quietly at his home in February at the age of 67.

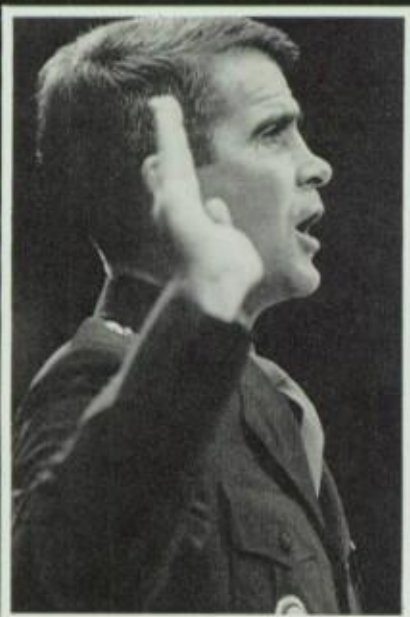

Television evangelists Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker said farewell to the PTL ministry in March. Jim Bakker resigned after confessing to a sexual encounter with a young woman. Tammy Bakker bowed out of the broadcasts to undergo treatment for drug dependency.

VANNA SPEAKS!

In an effort to keep the Persian Gulf open to navigation, the United States began in July to escort vessels to protect them from Iran. In September the U.S. Navy blew up an Iranian ship that was caught laying mines in the Gulf. Several mines were confiscated.

Marine Lt. Col. Oliver North, was a key official in the plan to finance anti-government rebels in Nicaragua with money from arms sales to Iran. In testimony before the Iran-Contra hearings in Washington, North became somewhat of a celebrity.

An earthquake that measured 6.1 on the Richter scale hit Southern California in October. It was not a catastrophic quake, but the damage was extensive.

THE 1987-88 YEARBOOK IS DEDICATED TO JAMES L. POMEROY

It certainly wasn't hard for us to choose who to dedicate the 1988 Yearbook to. It is our privilege to dedicate this year's book to Mr. J.L. Pomeroy. When we came to him with our decision, his first reaction was "No, you can't dedicate the yearbook to me, because I'm the advisor." But his reluctance wouldn't change our minds. He certainly deserves the honor. He has worked tirelessly for the students in Photography and has dedicated ten years of his life to the publication of the Sunburst yearbook. Mr. Pomeroy has given many hours and days of his life to his profession and has helped many of his students begin their careers. Not only this, he is V.I.C.A. advisor. This itself could be a full time profession as every year he sacrifices his free time to out of town trips, and after school and weekend projects. All of this couldn't be done unless he really loved his work. Even when things get tough, he never ceases to show a smile and give you one of his special hugs. There will never be another "Pom." We love you and we will miss you.

Sunburst Yearbook
Staff

I've been at Eldorado since its beginning. When the school opened it provided a full career. I have seen many students, teachers, and administrators come and go, and just telling about those who contributed to my life would take three pages.

I am tremendously proud of the accomplishments of the teachers and students at Eldorado. I have been privileged to teach many fine young people, many of whom I would be proud to have for my own children. As they change, grow, and move on, so must I.

I will miss those fine young people; I will miss this place, and particularly, I will miss the wonderful friends I have met here. I will miss the insanity of the "Lunch Wild Bunch" and their relentless attacks on the world's sacred cows. As I move on, I will always look back at Eldorado as one of the shining experiences of my life. Eldorado, I love you, and you will always be part of my life.

THE 1987-88 YEARBOOK IS DEDICATED TO JACKIE HYATT

Choosing the woman to dedicate our Yearbook to was a very tough task. We based our decision on how much time and effort the person put into their job. That is why we have chosen Ms. Jackie Hyatt. Ms. Hyatt has been a Physical Education teacher and a Cheerleader advisor since the school opened 14 years ago. She is involved with all Cheerleaders, Mascots, and Yell Leaders. All of the time that she spends with her students shows when they perform. Ms. Hyatt has helped with all of the spirit assemblies and without her help there would be total chaos. Promoting our schools spirit seems to be a talent that has been given to this wonderful lady. She enjoys spending time with her students and loves her job teaching here at Eldorado. Ms. Hyatt is a very caring and understanding lady and is always there for the students when they need her. Her support throughout the year is definately needed by all of her students. Ms. Hyatt enjoys everything about her job and her fellow staff members. We would like to thank her for all that she has done for our school and congratulate her for this honor.

Sunburst Yearbook
Staff.

Deciding to teach at Eldorado High School was probably one of the best decisions I have ever made. I have taught at Eldorado since it opened its doors and have never wanted to teach anywhere else.

The students at Eldorado are like none other in the district. They are very real and sincere people. As I look back through the years and remember students from years past and look at my students today, I see that the same wonderful qualities still prevail. It is because of these students that my days are happy and I realize fully why I became a teacher. My life is so fulfilled and I am working at a job that I truly love. I am indeed a fortunate person. There are so many people that dislike their jobs and I feel sorry for them. I think about how miserable they must be and then realize how lucky and blessed I am to be around people I enjoy everyday and how much fun and rewarding my job is.

Having the yearbook dedicated to me has been the most rewarding honor I have ever received. I am truly thrilled. To all the students, staff, and administration I would like to say thank you for being you and making my days happy and my job a most pleasant and rewarding experience. Thank you all from the bottom of my heart.

LOVE

Love is a gift we all share.
It's when you know someone cares.
When you know someone is thinking about you.
When someone shares their joys and sorrows.
Love is something that just can't be borrowed.
Love is when someone is there with you through thick and thin.
It's when they won't let go even if it looks like the end.
One of these days I hope I'll feel love for that certain someone and they'll feel the same for me too.
But for now I'll just pretend just the way the others do.

A Special Thanks To Those People Behind The Scenes

Mrs. Shaffer works hard to keep Yearbook sales receipts, as well as other school finances in order even after 3:30 p.m. on some days at our school bank.

Could you imagine what going to school would be like without the clean halls, the tidied-up classrooms, and the organization of such places as our switchboard and school bank? These are all common sites to us as we see them everyday, but we take for granted the fact that in the morning the classrooms will be all neat, and the halls immaculate. We don't realize that a lot of time and effort went into keeping our school a pleasant place to be. Although most students never actually see the people responsible for keeping our school in working order, they really do exist. It certainly wasn't the work of the fairy janitor! Day after day, long after students have gone home, they see to it that everything is picked up and into its proper place.

The results of their hard work can be seen each and every morning. It makes school life just a little easier to tolerate. Being a part of the clean up crew may not seem like it's anything to write home about, but it really is a big deal, as they are an essential part of our school. Without people like our janitors and the great staff of office secretaries, just think what going to school would be like. Who really wants to arrive at a school that is dirty and has absolutely no organization? Not us, right? So a very special thanks goes out to all those people behind the scenes, for their undying hard work, time, and dedication. Hopefully now they will be appreciated and receive the recognition they deserve. Thanks again, we know you're out there!

Without the presence of those reliable hall monitors- Tom and Tiny, our halls would be in absolute chaos!

Angela Mendez works long after most students go home to keep our school halls in ship-shape.

YEARBOOK EDITOR'S

Julie Bernat And Michelle Caudel

THE 1987-88 YEARBOOK STAFF IN ACTION!

Although I have been on the yearbook staff for two years, this year was certainly different. This year I was given the tremendous responsibility of being Editor-in-Chief. With only half a year of editing experience, I set three primary goals for myself and the yearbook staff. The first was to learn as much as I possibly could about editing and making a yearbook. The second goal was to share this knowledge with the yearbook staff. The third was to make this yearbook the very best ever. I feel I have met these goals-some through experience and others through trial and error. I'm certain though, that my last goal could not have been achieved without the dedication of my good friends: the crew of editors, or the hardwork of the layout designers and photographers. I must also thank Mr. Lance Shoen, our yearbook representative who tirelessly answered all of our "little questions" with a chuckle and helped us make each and every grueling deadline with a smile. We couldn't have done it without you. Through it all, I am happy to say I have reached my ultimate goal: to make a creative document of this school year. Thanks. It's been a great year!

Michelle Caudel
Sunburst Editor-in-Chief

As Photo Editor, I have experienced many new things. Being on the staff has really taught me how to respect everyone for what they are and how to cope under incredible pressure. My goal this year was to try to photograph every important event and activity and make it look as best as I could. With the help of my 10 photographers, I think that we have done an excellent job. I would like to thank my advisor, Mr. Pomeroy for all of the great times and support he has given me. Thanks for a great year and a great staff. The other Editors have also helped me, by pushing me when I was ready to quit. Thank you everyone.

The wrong sign is like the wrong suit.

Neither one fits your image.

Fast-track executive or off-the-track businessman? Your image is created by the way you're seen by others. Often the way your customers first see you is by the sign that tells them who and what you are. Is your sign projecting the image you want?

Good-looking, well-maintained, on-target signs can do a lot to attract customers to your business. And that's just the kind of signs Young Electric Sign Company has been designing and building for over 65 years.

YESCO manages sign projects from start to finish: design, construction, and maintenance. And YESCO experts can tailor a sign to fit both your image and your budget.

So if your present sign is ill-suited to your image, call or write us today.

We'll show you some signs we've done for others, big and small, that hit their image right on the button.

We can do the same for you. After all, signs are our strong suit.

One book you shouldn't have to sweat over.

If you're working hard to make a decent GPA, you shouldn't have to work as hard to make ends meet.

A federally backed student loan from First Interstate Bank of Nevada can make things a lot easier.

We can arrange to loan you up to $2,500 a year for your undergraduate studies. And up to $5,000 for graduate studies. All loans are at very low interest rates.

While you're in school, the federal government will pay the interest on your loan. Once you graduate, you'll have up to ten years to repay your loan.

So stop in at any First Interstate Bank office for the full story and an application.

There's only one Nevada bank that grants student loans. First Interstate Bank. And last year, more than 4,500 students received federally backed student loans from us.

The way we see it, while you're in college, your checkbook should be the last book you should have to sweat over.

Live the life you want, Nevada!

YEARBOOK SQUARES!!

Ben Jurgens,

Hey babe! Now remember, before you answer- I do have THE car, THE good looks, plus THE money! So, how about a long-term relationship with me? No?!? Well, I will settle for a date instead. Sound okay to you? Fine. I'll see you, say around, 7:30 tonight. Love ya, Bennett.

A thanks to my host family and friends for a GREAT year here in Vegas.
K.I.T. Jacob

Hey guys! It's been fun, hasn't it? Hey! I never claimed to be quiet OR normal, for that matter, so there! Never a dull moment, that sorta thing, right? Yeh! I will always remember McDonald's, my visitation rights with car trunks, plus all my "cute" nicknames — Marshmallow Twinkie, Crip, Bonehead, Frosting Face, Beachbum, Surfer Studette, Goofball, Airhead II...Jeez, I love you guys!!! Only 1 year left! Let's hope I make Graduation! Yeh, no doubt! Bennett-See ya at 7:30 sharp in your BMW!!! But as best friends, I'll always cherish the memories past and to come! I luv ya! I wish ya the best at Yale, babe! Because you're "the best"! Christopher L. and Christine M.- 2 of my Bestest Friends...I thought ya'll said blind dates were fake and never work out?! Ha! So when is the wedding?!?! Priscilla and Christine, my other best friends, this year has definitely proved to be incredibly unreal yet a lot of fun! And I found out who my "real" friends are and who were "fake"! Especially the fake part, huh Christina? Kelly Sanders- what kind of name is that for a guy? Then again what kind of name is Ben for a girl? Let's switch names, ok? Oh well. I guess we'll get over it, not that we have a choice. Circus Circus, May 22, ring a bell? I hope so. Mr. -Tall-and-Gorgeous-with-the-Oklahoma-accent, you are a babe! I Love Ya! Oh, by the way Todders, I'm NOT stuck up!!! To my very own exclusive Prince Charming, on your white steed, better known as "College Stud" in your new white 300ZX with your own personalized "IMAHUNK" plates. Not everything lasts forever but you've shown me that true love does last forever. I really do love you and you know the rest. Class Of '89, we are the best and at the top, always! So everyone also keep trying although you'll never match us. C-Ya! Chow Babes! Ben Jurgens.

To the gang at yearbook headquarters,

We did it! We finally finished the book! Thanks for making this years yearbook THE best ever! We've made the trend setting yearbook as far as Las Vegas is concerned! There have been so many deadlines but we've made all of them-that's a record in itself. I'll always remember the long hours spent after school to make deadline. I'll never forget this year or the 87-88 Yearbook Staff!
